Western New York Pride Weekend 1995 is just around the corner, and this year, for the first time, the weekend will feature a full spectrum of activities and events. There will be something for everyone, and all Pride events are free of charge.

Pride Weekend 1995 is expected to have a record turnout. This is a turning point in the history of Western New York's gay community, which has been energized by the changing political climate and by national events such as the March on Washington, which drew one million people to our nation's capital.
