VICTORY SONG

(Tune: "Roustabouts Song")

By Miss Ruth E. Speir

A strong and sturdy team have we
And to your query, who they be,
Our answer is, "You soon will see
They're the winning boys of S. T. C."

O follow the team,
Our swift and fighting team.
Wherever they lead us
We see their bright star gleam.
Across the state they go
To win for Buffalo
The championship of baseball,
Defeating every foe.

Let them hear afar and near
Our voices raised in song,
A student body strong.
Let them hear our voices clear
Cheering as they go,
"YEA BUFFALO"
So follow the team,
Our swift and fighting team.
Sing and cheer and shout with glee,
"VICTORY, S. T. C.!!"

Compliments of S. T. C. Print Shop

THE ELMS

1928

THE SENIOR YEAR BOOK
of the
STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
AT BUFFALO

Foreword

The Staff of the 1928 Alma presents with pleasure the Seventeenth volume. The many changes which have taken place during the year have made our college life richer and more worthwhile. Our student activities have given us broader contacts and have inspired friendships which may prove life long. May this book serve as a reminder in years to come of the events herein recorded.

To love boys and girls and to bid them welcome to the blessings of the school room;

To inspire them with a love of knowledge, teach them the beauty of truth and make them responsive to the truth in beauty;

To instill a sense of responsibility without robbing them of the joy of play;

To lead them to take pride in the ideal without obscuring the desirability of the practical;

To make of each class room a training ground where the junior citizens of today may grow into worthy adult citizens of tomorrow.

This is the high mission for which we hope your Alma Mater has helped to prepare you!

ALMA MATER

A branch that is lifeless and fragile,
When caught by the gleam of red coals
Is fanned to a quivering torch flame;
So love changes all human souls.
So we whom you love, Alma Mater,
Are touched by the warmth and the glow
Diffused on the hearth of your spirit
As into your service we go.
Now bearing the light from your
hearthside,
Soul-strengthened, inspired by you,
We shall share the warmth of your firelight
And kindle Youth's dull fires anew.

THE MAIN COLLEGE BUILDING

The New College

State Teachers College at Buffalo, formerly Buffalo State Normal School, will move within a few years into the beautiful and spacious buildings which will soon arise on the ninety-one acres set aside for that purpose from the State Hospital grounds at Elmwood and Forest avenues. Buffalo will construct a boulevard 106 feet wide and over one-half mile in length which will separate the hospital property from the college grounds. The tract will have a depth of 1,106 feet along a line drawn at right angles to Elmwood Avenue; the rear line of this property will be 1,428.5 feet in length and will intercept Scajaquada Drive at a point just east of the little promontory projecting into the creek. This tract will be ample to provide for a football gridiron, a baseball diamond, tennis courts, and several new buildings as needed for future years. The pressing requirements of the present dictate a necessity for a girls' dormitory in the near future. The proximity of Delaware Lake will provide for boating and for such winter sports as skating and hockey.

It is the general consensus of opinion that nowhere in the city could a more advantageous location have been found. It combines beauty of unusual park and landscape effects with an atmosphere of cultural educational achievement already assured by the presence in the neighborhood of the classic Albright Art Gallery, the McKinley Vocational School, a branch of the Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences, a prospective open air theatre and the beautiful Historical Building.

The accession of this remarkable tract and of the buildings which are to be erected on it will not have been accidental. As the time approaches for the actual fruition of the plans for the new college location, the realization of the source of that progressive step will probably lose emphasis, yet it must be noted that during the few years in which the project was initiated and concluded, a number of men worked and fought until all opposition was defeated.

In March, 1926, in connection with the proposed removal of the Buffalo State Hospital to Gowanda, the subsequent housing of the Buffalo State Normal School was considered. A three-day hearing was held in Buffalo, beginning on April 12, under the auspices of the City Planning Commission, at the close of which it seemed that the State Hospital could not be moved in the near future, but that this did not "necessarily foreclose the possibility of the use of a portion of that site for the expansion of the Normal School."

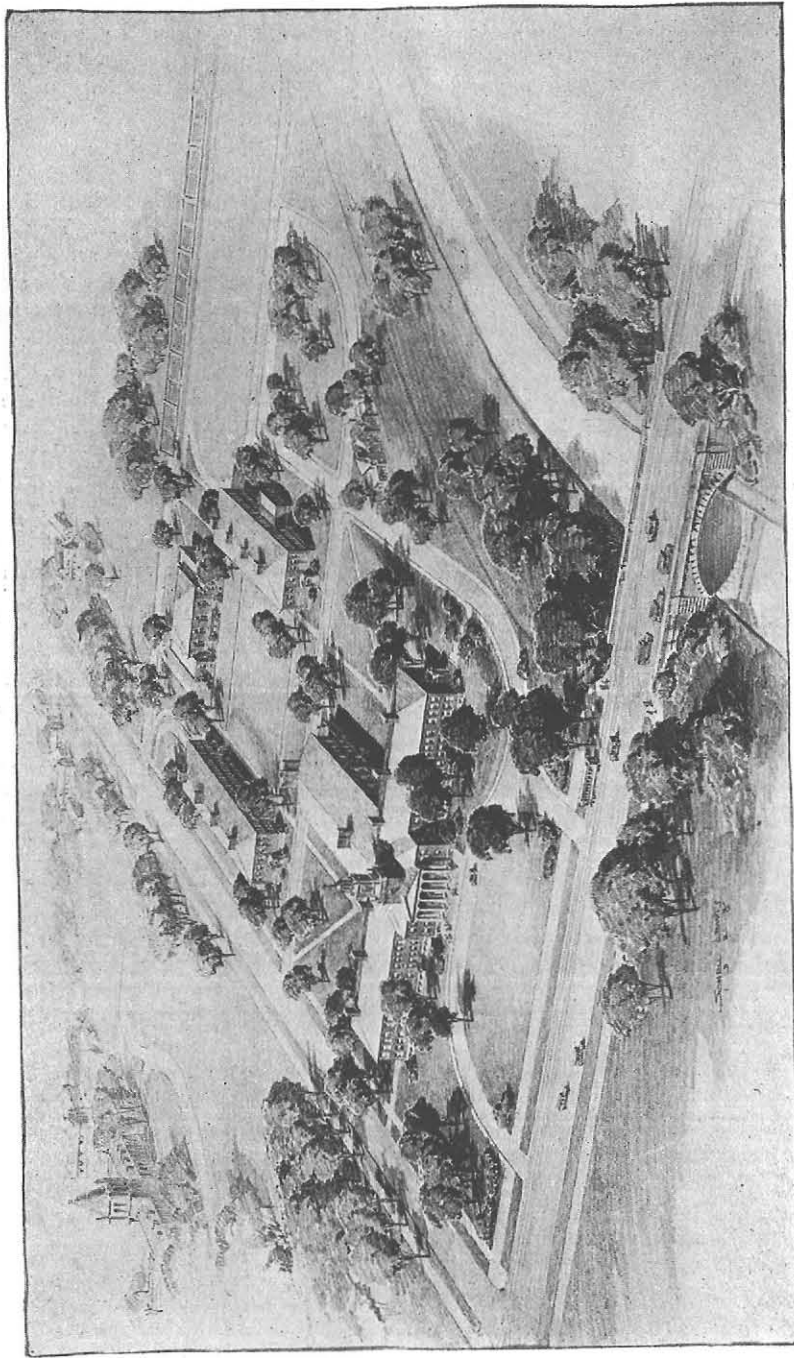

It was not until March 31, 1927, one year after its initiation that the plan was culminated in the signing of a bill by Governor Smith which provided.

1. That the State of New York cede to the city of Buffalo 85 acres comprising approximately the northern half of the State Hospital grounds.
2. That the State of New York deed over to the city of Buffalo the present Normal School property and grounds.
3. That the city of Buffalo, under the direction of the State Department of Education erect a new Normal School building on the new tract, facing Elmwood Avenue, at a cost not to exceed one and one-half million dollars.

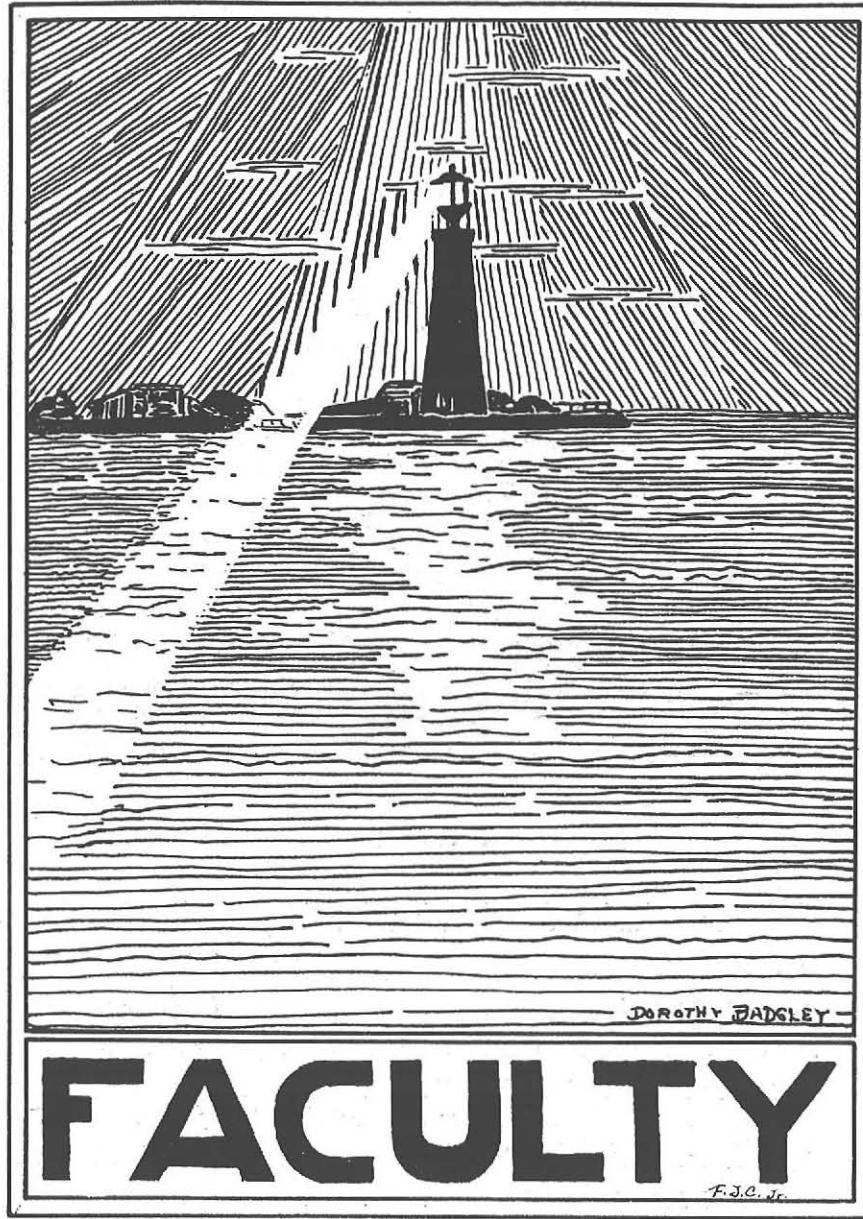

This bill, now a law, has been prepared by Corporation Counsel Gregory U. Harmon, with the authorization of Mayor Frank X. Schwab and the city council. It was introduced in the senate by Senator William J. Hickey and in the Assembly by Assemblyman Henry Hutt and was passed unanimously in both houses.

During the past year, the plans for the new building were started by Sullivan W. Jones and completed by William E. Haugaard and have been presented to Edward H. Butler and Dr. Harry W. Rockwell for final examination.

Class Song

Oh, we're the class of '28
And we go over big,
With profs in Health and Chemistry
But we don't care a fig.

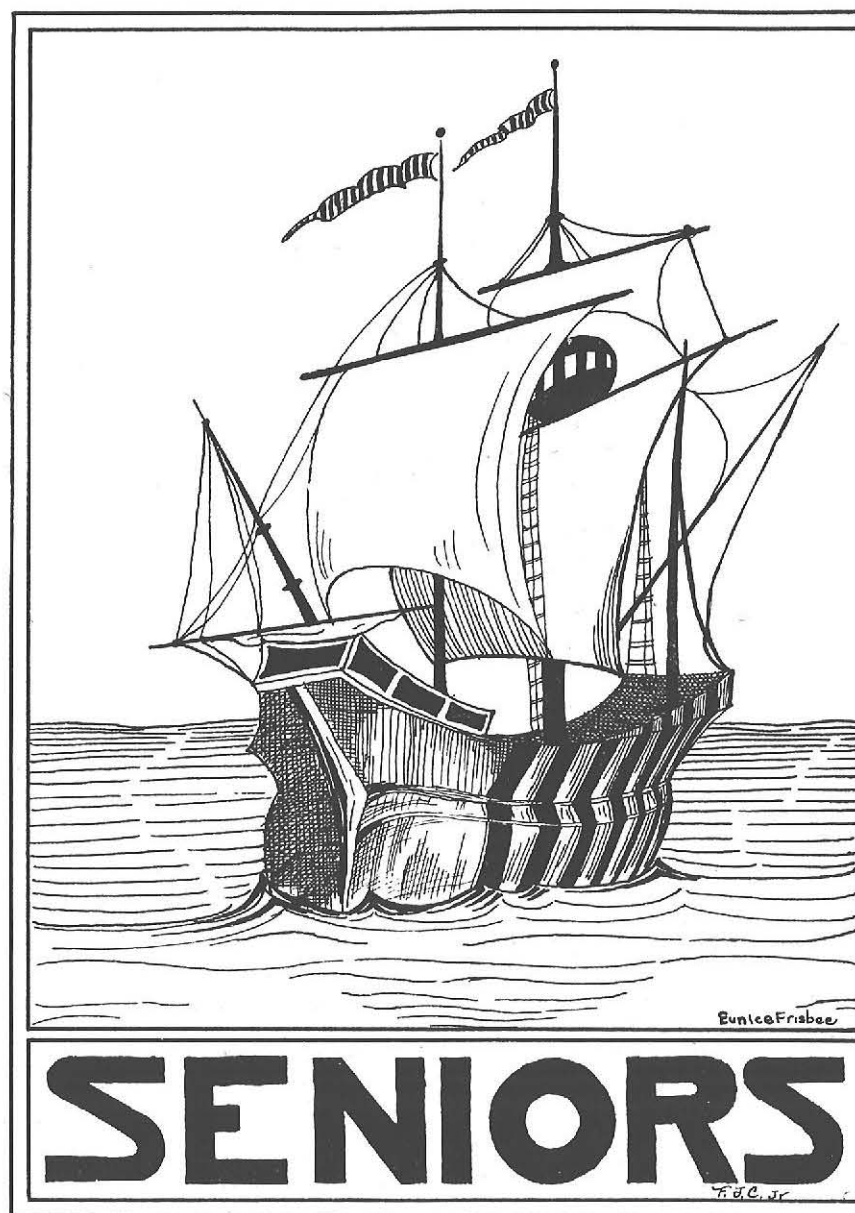

Our life has been a melody
That's sweetly sung in tune,
A melody from A to E
That's ending all too soon.

The very thought of leaving you
Just fills us full of pain,
But don't you worry, Mater, dear,
For we'll be back again.

Not as students, Oh, my, no!
For we're too smart for that,
But as members of the faculty
And grow both sleek and fat.

Or maybe, since we are so smart
And filled with common sense,
We'll all take jobs as janitors
Or college presidents.

Senior H-E-Class History

The Voyage of the "Hom-E-Con"

The good ship "Hom-E-Con" left Home Harbor on the 10th of September in the year 1924 for its four-year voyage on the Collegiate Sea. The day was perfect and fond friends and relatives crowded the wharf to bid us "Bon voyage." The passenger list showed the names of fifty-seven of the greenest Freshmen that ever fared forth. Although the skies were bright and our hopes high when we started, it was not long before we found ourselves on the high seas and, indeed, "in rough water." Seasickness took ten of our number that first year. Gradually, however, we outgrew this malady and things became more interesting—we were really getting acquainted. Our social life on board consisted of a round of teas, until we all agreed that we were almost "tea'd" to death. The second lap of our journey did not prove to be such an "upheaval" as the first—we were becoming organized and accustomed to our new life. Dinners and formal affairs replaced those ever-to-be-remembered teas, while costume parties were not infrequent.

One day, we received word over the wireless that several of our sister ships were to dock at the same port on March—. Plans were in order for a great celebration—the passengers of each ship were to arrange a stunt and a prize was offered for the best one. We immediately determined that the "Hom-E-Con" should carry away the prize. And it did! This good fortune raised our spirits high and it was with great expectation that we started the third part of our voyage. During that year, though shipwreck was ever imminent, earthquakes and terrific storms overtook us. Everyone had to "heave to" and work hard to keep our ship from going on the rocks. Our list had dwindled to thirty-four by that time and we concluded that, if we weathered that year, we could stand anything. The only bright spot on the horizon of that third year was a clever Fashion Show.

It was with considerable apprehension that we faced the fourth and last lap. Warnings had been received that the roughest stretch of the whole voyage was just ahead—the Practice House and Teaching Shoals. As we neared the Shoals excitement reigned supreme. We all crowded to the rails, trying hard to look ahead, but a heavy fog of breathless uncertainty hung over us. At last, word was passed around that the dreaded moment had come. We plunged ahead, half-fearful, yet each with a secret hope that our ship would go through in safety. The ordeal, to say the least, was nerve wrecking, and before it was over nearly everyone was ready to give up. But now that it is over, many enjoyable incidents stand out—our Senior Dinner, the Alumnae Banquet and Moving-up Day, when we again joined our sister ships for another rousing celebration. This last night out, when we gather in the salon to talk over our experiences, it is rather a quiet and thoughtful group. Our four years' voyage will end on the morrow. As we retire we are all determined to be up bright and early to get the first glimpse of our harbor—that harbor is "Life".

We are waiting, hopeful and expectant, wondering what new experiences we shall find. We shall no longer journey together, but ever, in our hearts, there will linger fond memories of the great voyage of our good ship, "Hom-E-Con".

History of the Fourth Year Class

Extracts from a Senior's Note Book

September 11, 1924

My first day at Normal. The upper classmen look so smart they scare me to death. Maybe I should have gone to business school or something  Was going to keep a daily diary but am working so hard I'll have to write when I can. Anyway we had our election today and Bob Black is president  Forgot to put in the faculty reception. Gosh, I almost died with all those teachers looking at me  Went to girl's basketball tournament this afternoon. Hurrah! we beat the seniors.

April 28

Well, we're going to be a college now. Don't know what it's all about, but I sure did make a lot of racket. Maybe I'll stay four years if I don't get thrown out first.

June 17

I haven't done so well with this, but I'll end it up in great style anyway. This is too good to keep—honest I passed everything. I can't figure out how it happened.

September, '25

Had to choose my department and specialize this year. You should see the subjects I'm taking!  Taught my first class. It was decidedly not so hot  Kappy Croll is president  Have a peach of a critic this term  Had a party in the cafeteria for our new faculty adviser. Everybody out!

June  Too busy to write anymore.

September, '26

Ah! I'm a senior.
Was anxious to see the new teachers. Hope I have some of them for classes  Don't mind practice teaching. Mr. Steel thinks I'm pretty good (?) so that's off my chest.

February

Went to Prom tonight. Too sleepy to write. Huge success even if we do say it ourselves.

May

I now attend State Teachers College. Whoopee! Won't that look ritzy on an engraved diploma!

June

Going to start studying now. I understand why upperclassmen look so solemn. No warnings, but just for luck *****

June 23

Well, I got out. I was too dizzy during the process to know what happened. I'm a school-teacher now—look me over and don't laugh.

September, '27

I'm back again. Found out I don't know everything. It's great to pick your own subjects. Fifteen hours seems like nothing at all  Was mistaken about that nothing at all  Went to basketball game, we won as usual. Harry Abate sure is good!  Have a homemaking president, Gerry Heerdt. Don't know her very well, but want to.

March

Dr. Neumann had a party for us at Reickert's. Best section party this year.

May 28

Big doings and field day at Crystal Beach. Moving-up Day. This was our affair and it went over big. Those track events!?

June

Term papers are killing me. Can't write another word  It won't be long now. It's sink or swim!

History of the Third Year General Normal

History may repeat itself but as we Third Year Graduates survey our glorious past, we cannot help feeling that our experience has indeed been unique and worthy of contemplation. The great change that has come into our lives during the last three years might be called The Disintegration of Personality, (which perhaps might satisfy a certain assembly speaker and ease his conscience).

From the time of our introduction to the Faculty at that awesome event, the Freshman reception, until this our graduation year, we have proved that despite all odds we would graduate in due season. (Some perhaps are not yet due, but time will tell). We have surely surprised ourselves and should be congratulated on the amount of disintegrating we have been able to accomplish. After leaving the Ten Commandments of Personality with Miss Robson, we proceeded fearlessly to surrender all our powers of speed and accuracy to Mr. Phillippi, battling with Courtis Tests as undauntingly as we skipped the light fantastic for Miss Houston. Revelling in the throes of passion for Miss Keeler was no more joy than singing through our noses for Mis Hurd. So we gradually disintegrated into Sophs.

To welcome new faculty members gave us our next thrill and we were more than joyous over the prospects of new acquaintances. But as we glanced around we found that even our sections had disintegrated and that many of our friends were playing in the kindergarten while many others were holding forth the theories of Algebra to a restless "Practice" class. In the new office our Dean came to know our favorite late hours and the amount of sugar we liked in our tea. We disintegrated beautifully, we are told, from making stocking dolls to the printing of a school handbill, from making sandtables to acquiring the "professional attitude", always disintegrating our troubles by our Dean's helpful advice. And so life went on.

To be "seniors" or "Third Year Graduates" was a hard matter to decide. The title, "seniors" is, however, so common, that we chose the latter. Putting forth renewed efforts we succeeded in changing the name of our institution, thus becoming more collegiate. To accomplish a perfect disintegration, we had to leave all our "special interests" with Mr. Bruce, our technique with Miss Bacon and our teaching skills with Mr. Steel. In the meantime Miss Allen collected our favorite stories. Miss Viele had long ago indexed our favorite alibies (for late books, and there was little left of our own selves to recognize). The crushing blow descended when Mr. Clement demanded our life histories, the only personal thing left to call our very own; but we surrendered again for the glory of Alma Mater and placed them lovingly in his file.

Yet—we have enjoyed our work, our friendships, and our teachers; and may we prove to them that what they took from us was little in comparison to that which they gave. After all "Education is Life".

W. P. A.

History of the Scholarship Class

Last September, we, the scholarship class of 1927-28, girded on our armor and entered the portals of the State Teachers College with the worthy ambition of overcoming the dragon, Ignorance. After having successfully passed the preliminary trade tests without ruining Mr. Perkins's car and the machine and the print shops, we concentrated our attention on the serious problem of the organization of courses under the guidance of Mr. Quackenbush, our faculty advisor. Then we were initiated into the mysteries of instincts and I. Q's by Mr. Grabau; from Mr. Perkins we learned that "education is life", and Mr. Morrice sadly shook his head at our knowledge of mathematics and proceeded to do the best he could for us. Ignorance dies hard!

We have, however, interspersed our work with play. The men of the class entertained the men's club very successfully, we had a very enjoyable party at Mr. Lord's home in Canada, there was one section party on Hallowe'en which everyone enjoyed and another after Easter; and we have turned out in goodly numbers to cheer our basketball heroes to success. We have also pledged ourselves to leave a scholarship to the college fund, the money for which was raised through the sale of college pennants.

Lest you forget, we should like to write our names so that all may read of our five stalwart automobile mechanics, Stanley Carter of Syracuse, Louis Lavonier of Oswego, Earl Parker and Alvin Lines of Buffalo, and the famous tenor, Harold Thomas of Saranac; three handsome cabinet makers, Phillip Caffish, Ralph Lord, and Cecil Wilson of Buffalo; one lone carpenter, Richard Maul of Buffalo; two hard-working N. Y. C. designers, Charlotte Steinmetz and Mildred Johnson; the draftsman from Yonkers, William Sisler; our representative to the central council; four vibrating electricians, Donald Cannon, Al Deibold, and George Jansen of Buffalo, and Harold Owens of Binghamton; four clever machinists, two of whom, Edward Pfaffenbach and Paul Thomae, take great pleasure in rooting for the General Electric at Schenectady, and two of whom do not, Lawrence Graser of Dunkirk and Lynd Marlette of Syracuse; one young plumber from South Glens Falls, Edward White; a power machine operator from N. Y. C., Paula Eisenman; a ladies' garment designer also from N. Y. C., Benjamin Mermelstein; two printers, one of whom is our handsome collegiate section captain, Joseph Howlin of Utica, and the other, Harry Muntz of Poughkeepsie; one energetic sheet-metal worker, Elmer Trew of Rochester; our smiling shoemaker, George Seils of Rochester; and last, but not least, our blonde welder, Walter Dick of Dansville.

Now we are at the end of our stay at dear old S. T. C. Our year has been a merry one and we leave our Alma Mater reluctantly, anxious though we are to embark on our careers as teachers.

"For the things that thou hast given,
For thy Spirit, staunch and true,
Our thanks to thee, Dear Mother,
Shall ring our whole lives through."

Mildred Evelyn Johnson.

Alma Mater

I

By Niagara's rippling waters,
Stands our city's pride,
Dearer to her sons and daughters
Than all else besides.

Chorus:

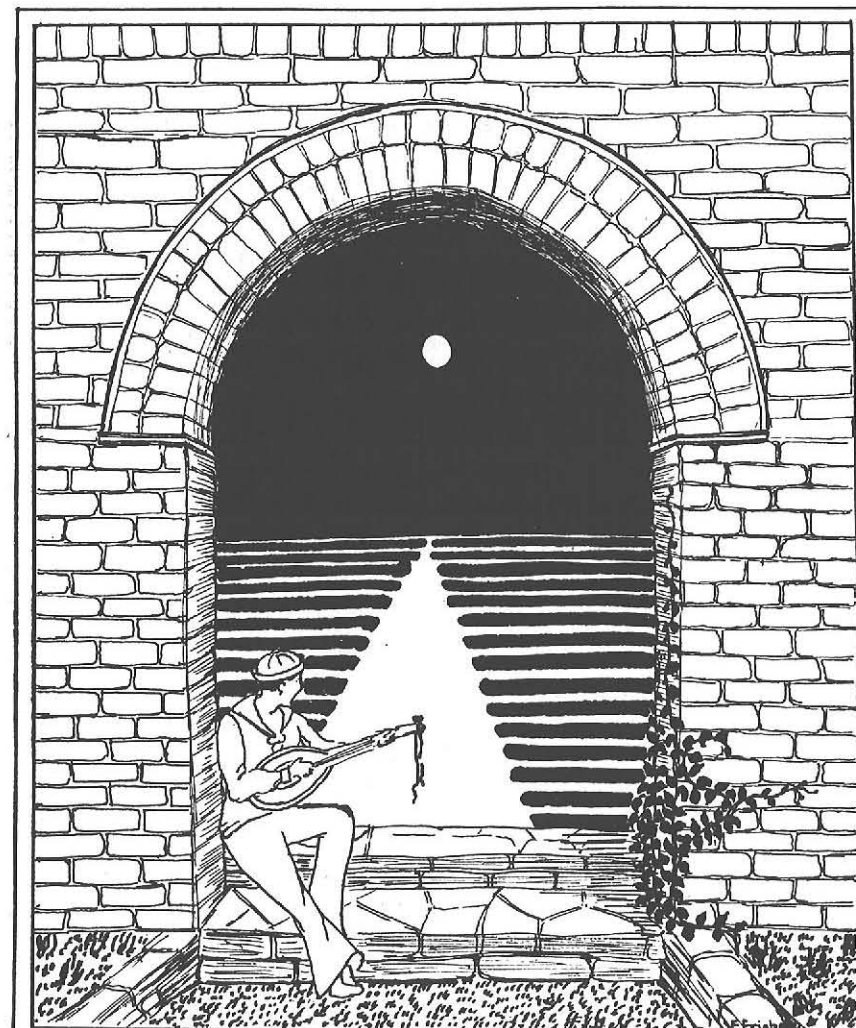

Hail to thee! O Alma Mater,
We shall honor thee.
All our love and deep devotion,
Thine shall ever be.

II

Far and near her glory shining
Draws us to her side,
Ne'er to anyone declining
Helping hand to guide.

III

Glory, then, to Alma Mater
Through the years shall ring
And all those who follow after
Like ourselves shall sing.

The Orange and Black

I

We have seen thee, Alma Mater,
In the black of the midnight sky
And the orange of the sunset
And these shall never die.
But we're facing toward the sunrise
Beneath the morning skies,
And the Dawn shines on our faces
And the light is in our eyes.

II

For the things that thou hast given,
For thy Spirit, staunch and true,
Our thanks to thee, Dear Mother,
Shall ring our whole lives thru.
For we're facing toward the sunrise
Beneath the morning skies,
And the Dawn shines on our faces
And the light is in our eyes.

Victory Song

(Tune: "Roustabouts Song")

By Miss Ruth E. Speir

A strong and sturdy team have we
And to your query, who they be,
Our answer is, "You soon will see
They're the winning boys of S. T. C."
O follow the team,
Our swift and fighting team.
Wherever they lead us
We see their bright star gleam.
Across the state they go
To win for Buffalo
The championship of baseball,
Defeating every foe.
Let us hear afar and near
Our voices raised in song,
A student body strong.
Let us hear our voices clear
Cheering as we go,
"YEA BUFFALO"
So follow the team,
Our swift and fighting team.
Sing and cheer and shout with glee,
"VICTORY, S. T. C. ! !"

ATHLETICS

Basketball

With the ranks of veteran material greatly depleted by graduation, Coach Grabau faced the organization of a new team. Upon Frankie Smith, as the only returning letter man from last year's quintette, fell the burden of captaincy of a new and raw outfit. Hopes began soon to ascend when a modest youth from Niagara Falls returned. Harry Abate had captained two previous teams for our Alma Mater, and proved to be a man of great ability in spite of his modesty. With these two experienced men as a nucleus, began the construction of a State Championship team.

Call for candidates, among an over-abundance of material, brought out Jerry Wilker and Billy Jackson. Both had been luminaries on local high school fives. Wilker's sterling ability and towering height won for him a center berth on the new outfit. Jackson proved a player extraordinary, and was soon picked to occupy a guarding position on the Orange and Black. Leland Genor was found to be a man of great stamina at guard, while Sharrow showed an equal agility at that post.

With the departure of Frank Smith at mid semester for the teaching field, the team lost a veteran player and was without a captain. Harry Abate was elected to this opening and led his team mates through many tight struggles in the succeeding games of the season.

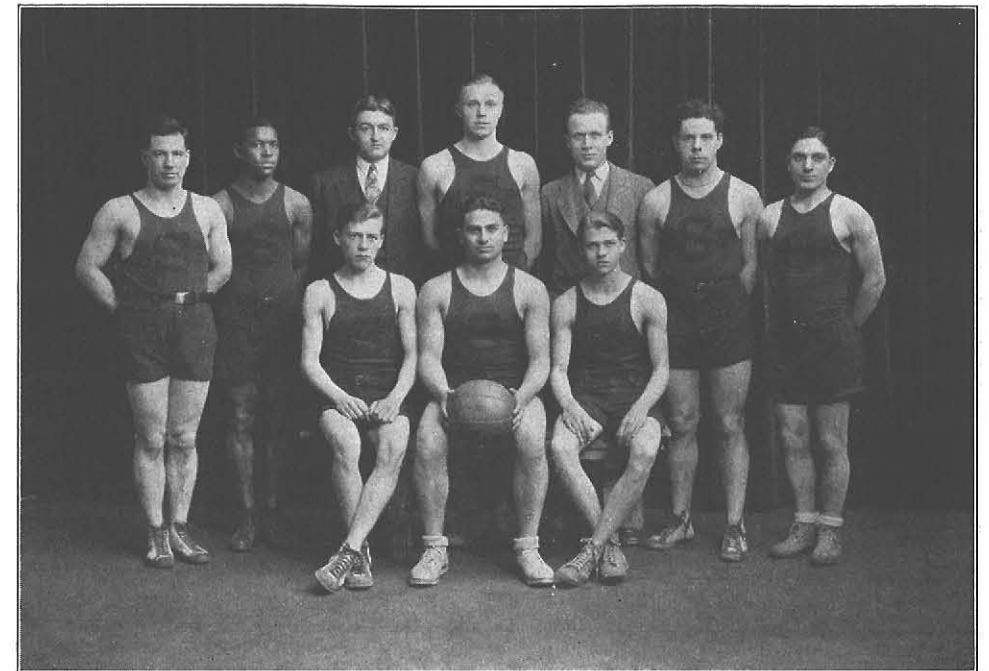

Smith's vacant forward position was soon filled by Bachman, a youthful reserve man, and the lineup was even further strengthened by the return to competition of Eddie Whittington, a regular on the 1926 quintette. Whittington and Bachman bore the brunt of the attack throughout the remainder of the season.

Although no sweeping claim can be made for the championship over all of the Teacher Training Institutions in the state, the team finished a schedule of games with most of the State Normal Schools without a defeat. A creditable showing against the colleges in this section will make it possible for next year's team to make a more pretentious entry into major college competition.

Much of the season's success must be credited to the spirited backing of our major sport by both the Faculty and the student body.

The following men were awarded the major "S" at the First Annual Athletic Banquet in March:

HARRY ABATE, Captain	EDWARD WHITTINGTON	FREDERICK AMBELLAN, Manager

Girls' Basketball

Basketball is the major sport for girls at Buffalo State Teachers College. It has grown every year until in the past season it has made it possible for more than one hundred girls to participate. Nearly every section was represented in the activity. There were nine Freshman teams, representing the eight General College and Homemaking sections. The six upperclass teams were composed of three Second Year and three Third Year sections.

The practice periods were most exciting affairs. They occupied the girls' time for two hours twice a week up to Christmas vacation. After this period the games took place. They were all marked by great enthusiasm, fine sportsmanship, school spirit, and sectional loyalty.

A fitting climax to a most successful season was the Undergraduate dinner, held at the Buffalo Consistory. On this occasion the winners of the Freshman and Upperclass tournaments shared honors with the men's Champion Basketball Team.

Baseball

With the advent of our institution into collegiate circles we have broadened our scope in athletics. A movement was started last year by the Industrial class of '28 to establish baseball as a major sport in our college.

In spite of the fact that no provisions had been made in the Blanket Tax budget for baseball equipment, this spirited group of men set out to attain the goal which they had set for themselves. Their first step was to contribute toward the baseball fund. Enough money was collected to buy bats and balls. Undaunted by the fact that no official schedule was played off during that season, they carried their plans through for the next season.

Thanks to the splendid moral and financial support which the student body afforded the movement, an appropriation of $300 from the Blanket Tax was made for the equipment of a baseball team. Ercole Liberatore was appointed manager and an imposing schedule was arranged which included games with Niagara University, Fredonia Normal, Brockport Normal, and Geneseo Normal Schools.

The first call for candidates brought out thirty aspirants from which Coach Grabau built a strong fighting team worthy of representing S. T. C.

The record up to date is as follows:

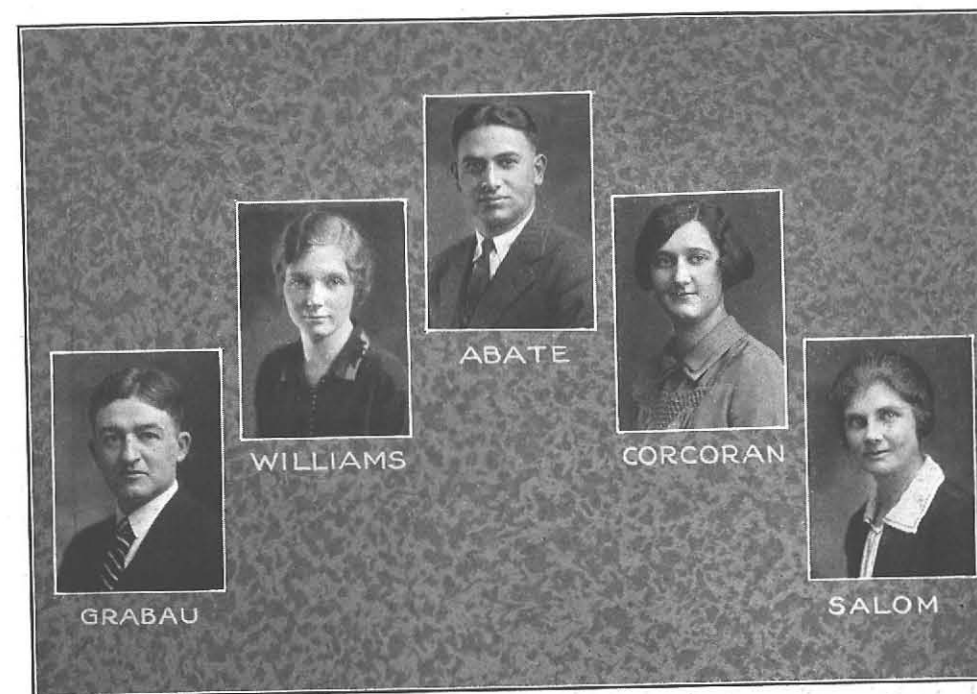

GAMES PLAYED

May 4, Friday—State Teachers College, 6; Y. M. C. A. Institute of Technology, 4.
 May 5, Saturday—State Teachers College, 3; Geneseo, 8.
 May 12, Saturday—State Teachers College, 26; Brockport, 10.
 May 19, Saturday—State Teachers College, 5; Fredonia 7.
 May 25, Friday—State Teachers College 7; Niagara 12.

GAMES TO BE PLAYED

June 2, Niagara University at Buffalo.
 June 9, Geneseo at Buffalo.

The Season's Hit—And How!

It was the night of the great game. The basketball floor was a riot of brilliant colors. A babble of eager, excited voices rose and fell as the restless spectators moved about the hall.

Suddenly, from an obscure corner of the room a squad of tall, athletic players dashed onto the court. A mighty roar of voices greeted their entrance. Simultaneously a solid mass of blue and white blazed forth from the bleachers on the left. A nimble fellow jumped from the midst of the group, and a lusty cheer broke forth.

Directly opposite them a blaze of orange started from a field of black and moved crazily to and fro, flung by excited hands. Hundreds of voices were lifted high in a hearty cheer as a group of strong, husky-looking fellows trooped onto the floor from a second corner. From the side-lines a slender figure darted, his arms raised wildly above a crop of red. An organized cheer rang clearly above the crowd.

The two teams began tossing for baskets at once. Slowly the excited spectators pushed back to either wall, jostling good-naturedly. The babble of sounds grew louder. Among the surging students one could discern a few familiar faces. Where the faces could not be seen, the voices proclaimed their owners.

"Whatcha doin', Huber?" called one lusty individual.

"I was just thinkin', returned George, but his reply was lost in the din.

"Hello, mama!" George Shulz's voice rang out across the crowd.

"Hello, grampa!" retorted Sally Beard. Then turning to a chattering bevy of senior girls, she said in dramatic tones, "Oh, girls, wait 'til I tell you! I had the cutest time last night. We drove out to a dance, and on the way home we had a 'flat'. We didn't get home until two this morning!"

"I had an interesting experience in Paterson," continued Esther Boyd. She was interrupted by Sylvia Wagner who confided, "Oh, girls, I have a new one".

No one ever heard it though, for at that moment the referee's whistle blew shrilly and ended the conversation. Everyone surged toward the sidelines.

"Oh, oh", gasped Marion Senecal, "look at that fellow with the heavenly blue eyes!"

"Where? Who?" cried a chorus of female voices.

"Oh, that! I don't like his attitude", commented Julia Forsyth. "He isn't my type!"

"That's just too bad", laughed Carl Minnick as he joined the group.

"Oh, let's change the subject," muttered Eleanor Erickson as she peered over the shoulder of the girl before her.

"Hey, down in front!" called a dozen voices as the referee stood ready to toss the ball. The offenders, Fred Wunsch and Wahler Chavel, looked woe-begone as they faced the crowd and tried vainly to shorten their stature.

The game was on! Bravely the boys from T. C. pushed toward their goal. The rooters pressed eagerly forward. A bench was overturned in the jam, and a dozen students crashed to the floor.

"I fa' down", wailed Lee Doll, rising slowly from the floor.

"Hey, hey", laughed Herbert Lidstrom heartily, the next moment crashing heavily to the boards himself.

"Hea, hea, me proud beauty", sighed Vincent Caruana.

"Applesauce!" yelled Carson Goldberg sarcastically.

"Someone stepped on my hat!" shouted an irate student as he held up to view a dilapidated Stetson.

"No, I didn't", replied Charles Zahn. "You had your own foot on it!"

"You don't know what you're talking about, anyway", admonished Herman Porter, trying to settle the dispute.

"Don't be like that", added Thomas O'Toole.

"You know a lot, Tom, but you can't think of it", offered Joe Homey.

A meek masculine voice called from the midst of the group, "Will someone please assist me in arranging these chairs?" Steadily the spectators pressed around Mr. Bruce who was vainly striving to right the overturned benches. A cheer rose from the lusty throats of seven hundred rooters and he gave up the fight to watch the game.

"What causes that?" asked Ruth Rieman who was hidden behind the taller students and so missed the play.

"T. C. almost made a basket" groaned a disappointed rooter. "Gee, what do ya' suppose is eating our fellows tonight? They haven't made a score."

"We must co-operate!" cried Ruth Williams frantically.

"A second cheer rose from the opposite side of the hall, and "Red" raced madly through the crowd. A second basket for U. B.! The rooters for the Orange and Black fairly sobbed.

"That's funny", mused Velma Wells. "Our boys aren't usually so slow".

What could be the matter with Harry Abate! He seemed to glance constantly along the rows of excited spectators, searching for a familiar face. The ball passed near him again and again; but his attention was not on the game. Suddenly everyone gasped. U. B. made a third basket, and Minick cried, "Gee, that's just too bad!"

"Too bad? It's awful", groaned a disappointed freshman. "We got to make this game." As he spoke several faculty members pressed forward from the back. Mr. Demond began to speak, "It's an outrage that our boys should lose this game. It's an outrage, a shame, and, and—what not!"

"It's utterly ridiculous—perfect rot and all that sort of thing. It's a horrible situation", exclaimed Miss Salom indignantly.

"The point is"—began Mr. Bennett, but he was interrupted by Mr. Root who was earnestly discussing the merits of basketball, "To train likely youth!"

At the end of the first half the score stood 10-0, in favor of U. B. T. C. rooters were dazed. Abate's pep was apparently gone, and the team was lost without it.

When the second half began there was no change. The ball was constantly on U. B.'s end of the floor. At five minutes before the end of the game the score stood 14-0. T. C. was getting desperate. Then Rosy Olief, who had stood slightly behind the first row of spectators, stepped to the front. Leaning far forward, she cried, "Make it, Harry. Make it. Don't let them run away with the ball!" A happy smile passed over Harry's countenance. With a graceful shot he made a basket. A deafening cheer went up from the student body.

"Bee-oo-tiful!" sighed Miss Mulholland.

"My word!" gasped Frances Lehman.

"OKAY, YMNX", shouted Fred Ambellan so lustily that he fell off the scorer's bench. Jumping up agily, he shook his neighbor's arm and cried, "Do you swing?"

"Right you are", his friend rejoined, and they hugged each other in glee.

"Oh, St. Louis", screamed Marjory Duly, "It won't be long now!"

The captain's success seemed to fire the whole team with pep. They tied the score a half second yet to play. Genor caught the ball just as a U. B. player fumbled it. He shot it from the center of the floor and made the basket just as the whistle blew.

"Rah, rah, sauerkraut!" cried Captain Abate as he gathered his men around him and shook their hands vigorously.

"Mmmmm, we just missed losing that game", sighed Corky happily.

"Why bring that up?" rejoined a second rooter. "We won. Didn't we?"

"And how!" laughed Lee Doll as he dashed crazily by them.

"Is everybody happy?" called a soft voice from the faculty group.

"Happy?" murmured a student. "We're sitting on top of the world!"

"At this moment Earl Sharrow was rudely roused by a classmate who whispered loudly, "Wake up, Earl. Class is over. Let's go down to 'George' and get some fellows to play a game of baseball next period."

"Um hum," yawned the dreamer sleepily. "Gee, I just had a wonderful dream. You missed the hit of the season!"

Tooralee

I

We sing of two colleges of our fair state
Which aim to train teachers both famous and great;
They also equip with a B. S. in Ed.
Which, we hope, does not function in turning the head.
Tooralee, tooralay,
Which, we hope, does not function in turning the head.

II

In Buffalo and Albany Four Year Course rules,
But let's all remember our nine Normal Schools;
We hope they're not ab and we know they're not sub,
To be normal forever, ah, there is the rub.
Tooralee, Tooralay, etc.

III

Fredonia and Potsdam are far, far apart,
But both of them struggle with music and art;
Geneseo's librarians burn midnight wicks,
Oneonta trains teachers to know lots of tricks.
Tooralee, Tooralay, etc.

IV

With normal and college our list is complete,
Eleven State schools that just cannot be beat!
That it's hard to get in not a Freshman will doubt,
But the Seniors will tell you it's worse to get out.
Tooralee, Tooralay, etc.

. . your electricity cost more than today

EVERYONE knows that automobiles cost less today than in 1910. Yet few people realize that the price of electricity, too, is actually less than 18 years ago.

Today, while living costs are practically doubled, Niagara Power Service is one of the biggest bargains that you buy. Interconnected power plants of the Niagara Power Service System send power back and forth as it is needed. Generating equipment is reduced to a minimum—operating expenses are lowered.

Niagara Power Service is delivered to you at the lowest possible cost. You can afford to use it freely.

always the same—always good!

MILLIONS in resources, a trained and expert organization and the obligation we feel toward the public assure the keeping of this pledge.

Scientists have spent years developing the formula used in making Fro-joy Ice Cream. It is sufficiently rich in heavy cream to be delicious in texture and flavor and at the same time it is a perfectly balanced food for invalids and young children. Competent laboratory chemists supervise every step in the conversion of pure, wholesome dairy products, refined cane sugar and pure fruit juices into Fro-joy Ice Cream.

Fro-joy Ice Cream contains in abundance those valuable mineral elements—lime, phosphorous and soluble iron—called "Youth Units," which rebuild and create living cells of energy and vigor.

Fro-joy Ice Cream is the most wholesome, delicious and invigorating food you can serve your guests, or your family. Place it on your daily menu.

Chock-full of "Youth Units"!

SMITH'S
REGENTS REVIEW BOOKS

Cover All Subjects

Invaluable for Drill Work. An Aid to Teaching.

Smith's Regents Review Books contain actual questions asked in New York State Regents' examinations during the past 20 years. These books give the instructor a diversified choice of subjects for homework assignments. They acquaint students with the type of examination questions asked and bring a realization of the knowledge they should possess in order to pass. They are excellent for weekly tests. They are recognized and endorsed by thousands of Public and Parochial Schools in the United States and Canada.
