Community Choir Sing Has Variety of Music

The realm of gospel, spiritual and classical music was explored Sunday night in a community festival of choir in St. John's Baptist Church, Michigan and Goodell. The singing was sponsored by the Masten District Community Relations Council.

The Friendly Five began the program by blending their tones to the spirituals "Wonderful Peace" and "He's Using Me."

The next group, the Calvary Baptist Youth Choir, offered a rousing "I Shall Not Be Moved." The choir's 22 strong voices, sounding more like a professional choir than a youth group also rendered the well-known spiritual "Pray When Everything Goes Wrong."

The Emanuel Temple Chorale, directed by Fred Willie, sang "On That Great Gettin' Up Morning" and "How Great Thou Art."

Giving diversification to the program was the 12-voice Royal Serenaders performing Johann Sebastian Bach's anthem, "Sleepers Wake." Brian Capps, a member of the group, sang "Saved."

The program was concluded with all the choirs and the audience of 200 persons singing "We Shall Overcome." D. G.
