IN MEMORIAM

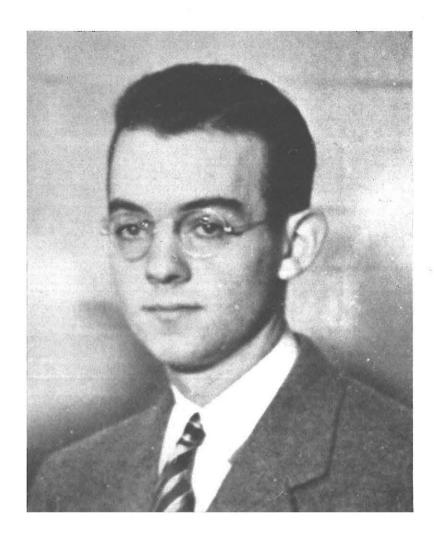

Another Christmas Season has come and gone. To some it brought great joy, and to others it brought deep sorrow. We, the students and faculty of State Teachers College, were not without our moment of sorrow.

The vacancy created by Charles Reedy's passing will not readily be filled, for he exemplified the highest type of college citizenship. While maintaining excellent scholastic standards in his various fields of endeavor, he participated to a maximum degree in extra-curricular activities. Active in a fraternal organization, a Junior Counselor, a member of the Newman and Dramatic Clubs, manager of cross-country, and chairman of the Christmas Party and the Junior Prom, Chuck was a cog in school life which we could ill afford to lose.

These exterior evidences of Chuck's desirable relationships with the faculty and student body do not outweigh the many talents of music, and of wit, the friendly gestures, and the helping hand familiar to those fortunate enough to penetrate his quiet surface. Associates will not forget his willingness to cooperate, his ready acceptance of responsibility, and the manner in which each task was characteristically carried to its successful finish.

At this moment of bereavement, let us find comfort in the faith expressed in those lines written by Longfellow:

"There is no death! What seems so is transition;
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life Elysian,
Whose portal we call Death."

Charles J. Reedy, Jr.

To Dr. Harold F. Peterson we affectionately dedicate this Elms. The Intelligence Department at Washington has called him from his post here at the College, as Assistant Professor in the history department, to act as Research Analyst in South American affairs.

A discerning scholar and a ready wit, Dr. Peterson will always be a source of inspiration to his students. In his stimulating classes, we have learned to think logically and independently. Truly, Dr. Peterson is the "creative teacher".

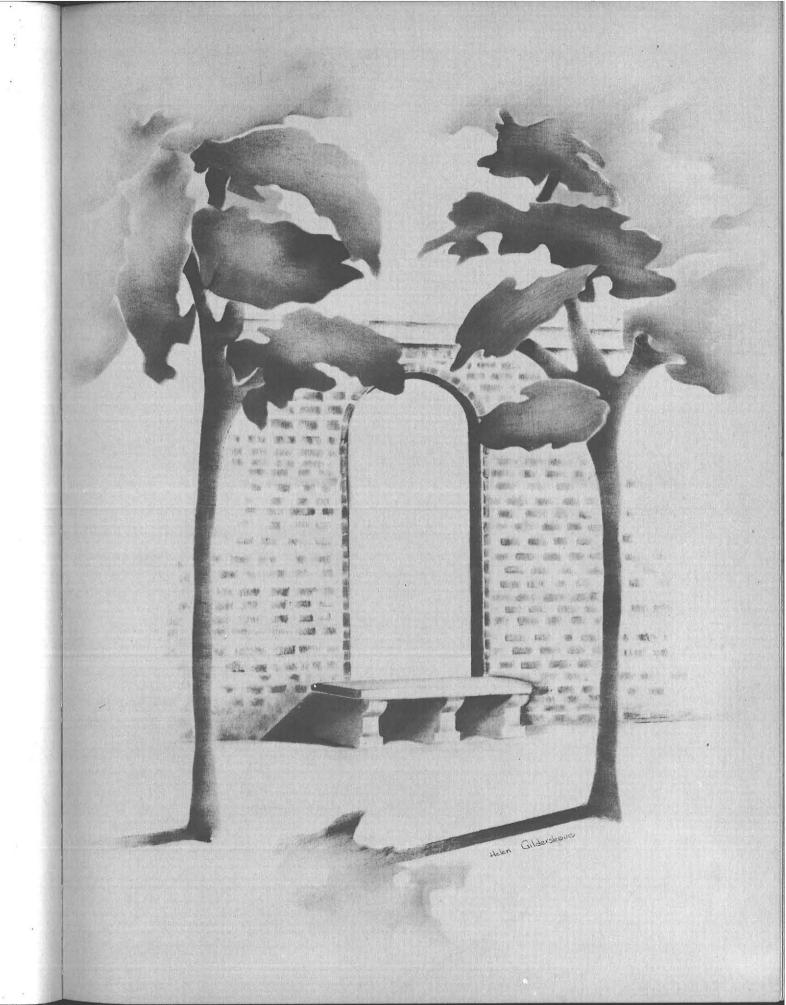

HAROLD F. PETERSON

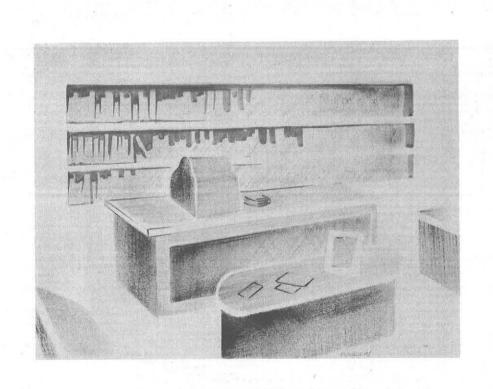

Foreword

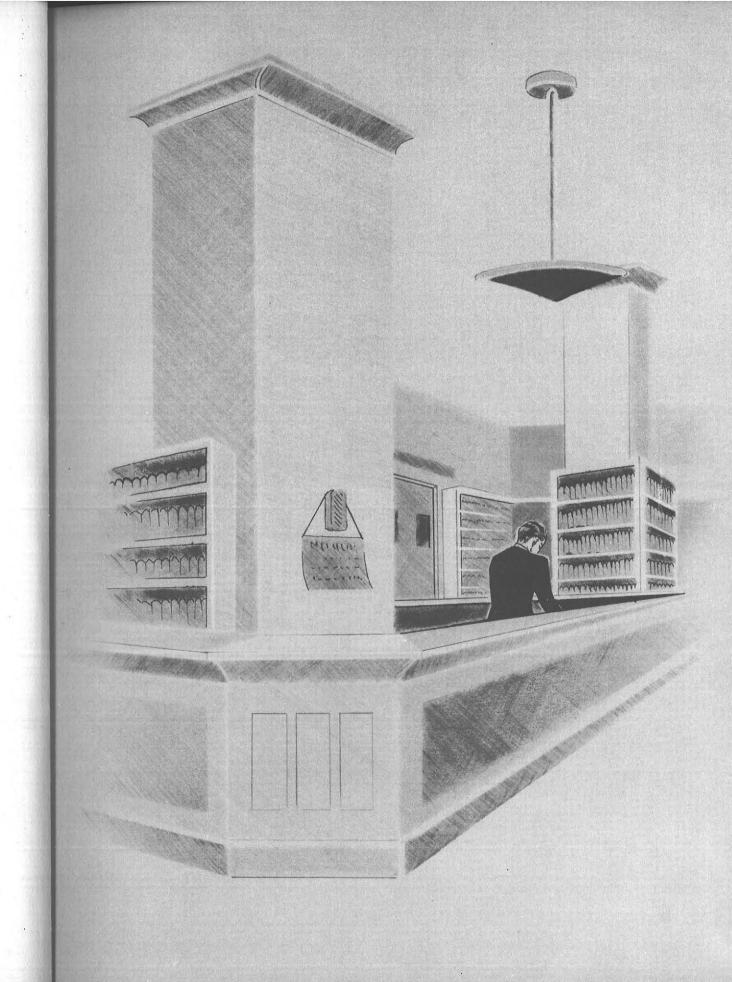

There will never be another year like this past one, and there will never be another Elms like this present one. We, the Elms staff, have made an earnest effort to include in this book all those features which have given this year its unique "personality".

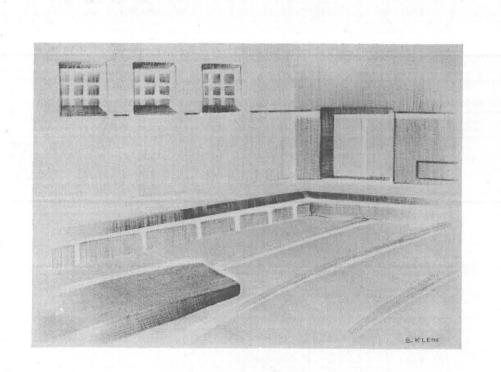

Many of our 1942 activities carried on the tradition of former years . . . we participated in the same extra-curriculars, we played basketball against many old rivals, we went to the same classes, and suffered, as did our predecessors, in January and in June. We worked and played and grew as students have done before.

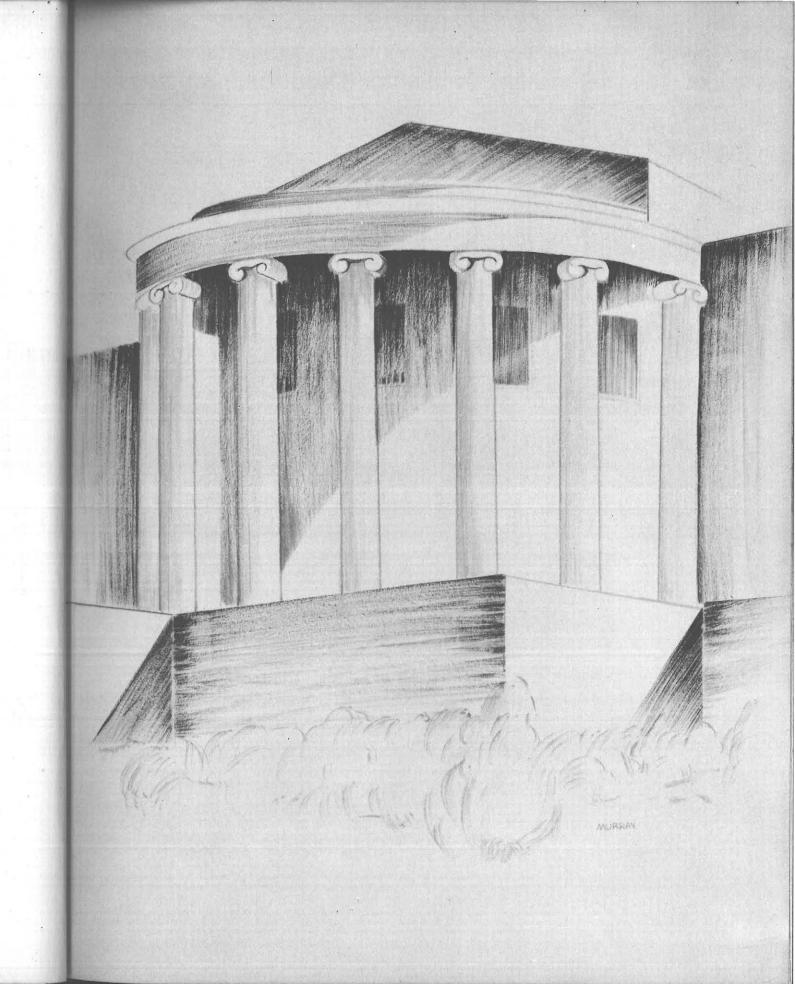

But, in a larger sense, this year has been unique. Our energies, our resources, and our courage are now engaged in a war to prove that the free and democratic people of the world are, in the final test, the strongest people in the world.

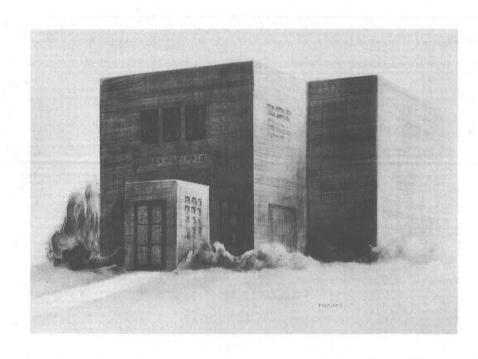

FACULTY

They are our leaders in thought and action.

They are our guides in seeking unprejudiced truth, our instructors in the varied phenomena of the world, and our friends.

We present the FACULTY, agents of the universal democratic creed, "The truth shall make men free."

As Student Council is the "head" of State, so Alpha is the "heart." Again this year, Alpha was sponsor and director of Leadership Day, held, for the first time, on the college campus. Student leaders met in seminars, discussed problems, and described triumphs.

Close on the heels of Leadership Day, Alpha presented the college organizations to the freshmen in a new and sparkling arrangement of the annual Organization Day. A feature of the day was the granting of a Student Activities Charter to each organization.

And who will ever forget Christmas this year? . . . the College decked out in rosy Yule lights, crisp green holly and sparkling snow . . . and mistletoe!!

Then, in April, at the Senior Ball, the "Alph-alfites" named their successors . . . the promise of youth, neophytes ever ready and able to carry on and extend the work of those who have gone before.

Members of Epsilon Pi Tau are selected from the top-ranking students of the Industrial Arts junior and senior classes.

The local, Tau Chapter of the National Honorary Fraternity stimulates scholarship, leadership, and further development and research in the field of industrial arts.

On April seventeenth and eighteenth, Tau Chapter was host for all the North Eastern Chapters during the regional conference held at Buffalo.

Active status continues after graduation for all men who teach, or remain interested in Industrial Arts Education. Retirement from the profession brings an honorary membership status to such men as Mr. George E. Huckins, formerly of the College faculty, who was so honored this year.

In recognition of the growing spirit of Americanism, Kappa Delta Pi presented an assembly program in the fall, which traced the history of the American flag. With the aid of a group of grade school children, the members showed how our present day banner of stars and stripes developed from the first crude flag of colonial days.

To get an invitation to a tea given by Kappa Delta Pi means one thing to the recipient—his name has been included among State's illustrious. For again this year Kappa Delta Pi entertained students whose semester marks put them on the celebrated Dean's List.

Established in 1931, as a member of the national honorary society, the campus Gamma Mu Chapter endeavors to foster among its members high ideals of scholarship, leadership and service to education.

Establishment of the Myrtle V. Caudell Library was one of the major problems of the Phi U. girls this year. Because of Miss Caudell's interest in the Home Management House when she was Head of the Home Economics department, the library was set up in the newly established Home Management House, primarily for the use of the girls in residence there.

As members of a national honorary fraternity for Home Economics students, the girls held two meetings this year with their brother fraternity, Epsilon Pi Tau, to discuss local and national problems in the field of vocational education.

The first honorary society on campus, Phi U. is composed of upperclass Home Economics students, outstanding in scholarship and campus enterprises, as well as in activities in their chosen field.

Remembering perhaps, that Liberty herself was a Lady, Nu Lambda Sigma, women's honorary-literary sorority at State, chose as a theme this year "Women in Literature." At a series of informal teas, members discussed well-known women writers.

Nu Lambda members are selected annually from groups of students maintaining a superior English average, and showing evidence of a keen interest in literature.

Functioning on campus for over seventeen years, Nu Lambda now counts the publication of a literary magazine among its varied achievements. In addition to this publication, members contribute regularly to the literary column in The Record.

"There is a fellowship among men who enjoy good literature," and Sigma Upsilon recognizes that bond. Founded at State in 1931, Alpha Delta Chapter is the first Teachers College chapter to be chartered.

Wednesday nights ... poetry ... current events ... ice cream and cookies ... Dr. Thurber's home ... Robinson Jeffers ... debates ... the last war and this one ... so might an impressionist's notebook read in summary of 1942.

This year again, Sigma Upsilon was the sponsor of a debate team which represented State in inter-collegiate forums.

Not to be outdone by the Sophomores or the Junior Counselors, Pan-Hellenic did its part to help orient the freshman women. At a series of parties, the freshman girls became acquainted with members of the different sororities.

Composed of three members from each sorority, the Council considers the desires and needs of each sorority. Through their delegates, sororities have found many chances to coordinate their work for the benefit of the College.

In addition to regular monthly meetings, Pan-Hellenic acts as sponsor for teas given in honor of visiting national officers of the various sororities. During the rush season, uniform rules for both formal and informal rush parties were established by Pan-Hel.

At the annual dinner-dance, Alpha Sigma Alpha received the scholarship cup which is awarded each year to the sorority whose members have the highest average.

A halo of glamour was noticeably present 'mid the chiffon, the lace, and the fast-beating hearts that drifted on campus the evening of February the eleventh, the night of Alpha Sigma's "Sweetheart Dance." Alpha Sig echoed Victor Herbert's famous words, "Ah 'tis love and love alone the world is seeking." It was this very same year, too, that the girls contributed to the college the fourth marble love-seat for the quadrangle.

In the traditional spirit of Christmas time, Alpha Sig vigorously initiated a used toy drive for the needy children of Buffalo and vicinity. Cooperating with the citywide drive of the Courier-Express they set up a huge box and encouraged students to bring their broken dollies and old toy horns.

At the Pan-Hel dance in the fall, Alpha Sig was awarded the gold cup for maintaining the highest scholastic average last year.

The sultry, languid rustle of crepe paper palm trees vied with the brisk October winds this fall. A sudden burst of tropical bloom flared against the splendor of the fading leaves. The torrid rhythms of the Conga and Rhumba accentuated South American atmosphere that swayed over State's campus when Alpha Sigma Tau's Brilliant Brazilian Brainwave, the "Cafe Copacabana" made its glowing début, a whole three months before the New York version stretched wide its doors.

About a month after their super, super colossal triumph had subsided a wee bit, Alpha Sigma Tau was greatly honored by a visit from Mrs. Haswell Staehle, the sorority's National President, who was on an inspection tour of Alpha Tau.

With the call to Red Cross activities sweeping the country, Delta Sig conducted State's own Red Cross Roll Call Drive in cooperation with the Buffalo chapter of the organization.

Early in the fall, Delta Sig merged nationally with Pi Delta Theta, making D. S. E. the largest educational sorority in the country. This had a special effect on the campus, since there was an active Pi Delt chapter here.

Traditional tavern keepers by now, members of Delta Sig again this year opened their beer garden at the Y Carnival. With the Gay Nineties as the theme, there were hip-swiveling hostesses, a barbershop quartet and Bohemian waitresses, all in the atmosphere of flickering candlelight.

Long will the crunchy cookies of Delta Sig's cookie sale be a satisfying memory to the faculty and students; and long will the joint party with Psi Phi be a satisfying memory to Delta Sigs.

Silvery stardust and silken dreams . . . gentle music and a round gold moon. These memories will long fill the hearts of those who recall Pi Kappa's "Stardust Dance" of this year.

But members of the Rho Chapter on campus aren't entirely romanticists; they have their practical moments as well. Remember those luscious peppermint and butterscotch apple suckers that perked up your spirits and lagging energies after you bellowed your best and most on the day of Interclass Sing?

Early in the spring, campus romances, already blossoming, were further aided by the heady fragrance of gardenias sold in the Student Center by Pi Kaps. Faculty members as well as students pinned on the fragile flowers and sniffed the day long.

"All out for defense, girls—" might well have been Tri Sigma's slogan of '41-'42. As part of their Social Service work for this year the girls knitted for the Red Cross. Then they invited some seventy-odd soldiers to their Friday night dance, the Defense Stamp, and were sponsors of a date bureau with campus co-eds for the soldiers.

Biggest thrill of the year for Tri Sigmas was the opening of the new sorority house. With new draperies and deep window seats, the house is a cozy place for sorority meetings as well as a place to live. The night the girls held House Party they had plenty of time to enjoy the comforts, for sleep was at a minimum.

At Christmas time the girls held their traditional Brownie Sale, and offered the luscious brown squares in the Student Center.

Indeed, the Zeta Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma can mark this year down in their memoirs as a momentous one.

Bridge, believe it or not, has been one of the accomplishments of the Theta Sigma girls this year. It will certainly prove a boon to them, Theta Sigs sincerely hope, when they accept that lonely rural position.

When the black cats and witches came haunting around Hallowe'en time, the girls got right into the spirit by offering doughnuts and cider for sale in the Student Center. At Christmas time they invited a group of children from the Protestant Home to share a cake-and-ice cream celebration with them.

In February, Theta Sigma entertained members of other campus sororities at their annual Courtesy Day Tea.

A gay culmination of a successful year is the National Convention, to be held this summer at Pine Tree in Pocono Pines, Pennsylvania.

Over 1000 student and 100 faculty members annually thank Delta Kappa, prayerfully, if not literally, for publishing the Student Directory. Where else is there such a wealth of telephone numbers in such a limited space?

This year again D. K. held frequent gym parties, when the members played ping-pong, batted the badminton birdie, sank fouls and munched sandwiches in the companionship of their brothers and best girls. That same old gym the boys transferred into a gridiron with goal posts, yard lines and the rest, for their annual campus dance, this year the "Delta Kappa Football".

On Moving-Up Day, D. K. members presented the Delta Kappa award to the Senior man outstanding in character, scholarship, and leadership. At the same time they gave the D. K. athletic award to the outstanding athlete of the year.

Never lacking in the promotion of college spirit, Psi Phi this year exuberantly went all out for S. T. C. Before our home basketball games, the boys set up the phonograph and mustered the cheer leaders into formation so that we could dance and cheer ourselves into a victory mood.

Armed with a budget and a recipe file, the Psi Phi-ers went into housekeeping this year. In their newly-established residence at 92 Claremont, the boys learned to dish up a fluffy omelet and play host but gracefully!

Indeed their social life was very jolly. The fellows held their now-notorious hayride in the fall, a joint meeting with the Delta Sigs, and their own particular innovation called "Date Night."

Their gym parties were fun and frolicsome; the Spring formal, a perfect end to a perfect year.

"She's Sigma Tau's own sweetheart, She's Sigma Tau's White Rose."

So the Sigma Tau boys softly lilted the night last fall when Amy Smith was chosen as the White Rose of 1942. Each year the members choose a girl on the basis of personality and attractiveness to reign over their annual White Rose ball. Girls are nominated by organizations and then voted on by the Sigma Tau members.

The campus Rho chapter in 1933 became affiliated with the national organization of Sigma Tau Gamma, which is the oldest National Social Professional Fraternity in the country. Keys are awarded by the national chapter to two members of each chapter for outstanding scholarship and sportsmanship.

In the spring before the brothers parted for the summer or perhaps even longer than that, they made merry at their annual Spring formal.

The Elms this year is an expression of the theme that is dominant in American life today . . . total, aggressive war against those forces and ideas which would threaten our way of life.

We believe this to be the only fitting and proper theme for the ELMs. We have tried to show on these pages what part our State Teachers College at Buffalo has played in this total war. After some years, when we have won the peace, may this book remind the reader that democracy was won, not by high sounding phrases, by slogans, or banners, but by "blood, sweat, and tears."

National Defense took the headline position in your college newspaper this year, as coeditors went all-out to prove that "two heads are better than one."

Enthusiastically backed by its new adviser, Mr. Donald Brossman, the Record of '41-'42 stands as a living picture of campus life. Adopting the policy that complete coverage of war news is not within its intended scope, the Record aimed only to present an accurate picture of the effects of this news on the college, its students, faculty, and alumni. Hand in hand with the Morale Committee, we published a series of letters from State men now in our country's service. Plans and activities of the College Defense Committee constantly made the front page, and editorials and questionnaires further established the role of the college press in national defense.

Record "scoop" of the year was a preview of Student Council agenda printed before each meeting in order to prepare students for Council discussion.

Athletics, too, received an increasing amount of space. In fact, the undefeated Cross-Country team rated a banner headline.

No more delays, no more waiting for action, Student Council went to work this year! "First off," a Student Council Cabinet was set up to prepare Council agenda before the meetings. For all to see and to take issue on, the outline was printed in the Record before each meeting.

Meeting past charges of "exclusiveness", Council added representatives of two more campus organizations to the roll of regular members. Now, both Athletic Council and Publications have their own spokesman in Council.

But fear not that it was all drudgery. The variety show in Assembly proved the Council members to be talent scouts of a high order; and huge posters in the Student Center left no doubt that there was socializing in the gym during noon-hours.

Another milestone of the year was a revised constitution, developed by a committee composed of a member of each class to make Student Council a more workable unit.

If you seek "information please" on any phase of school life or activities, you will find the answers of a board of experts in a minute, pocket-size book, the Student Handbook. Not only do the Freshmen use this as a constant guide, but upperclassmen refer to it continually to find out how to get back into class after an absence, or how to reserve the Social Centers.

Sophomores usually demand that Frosh learn pages verbatim from the Handbook. This is some encouragement, but Dr. Rockwell offered a further impetus when he promised a five-dollar prize to the Freshman who received the highest score in the handbook competition.

Although it is only 16 years old, the Handbook already has shown development. Once a 40-page introduction to the Normal School life, it is now a volume of almost 100 pages, covering every phase of the administration and opportunities at State.

Highlight and spotlight for this year's activities for the Association for Childhood Education was the A. C. E. Golden Jubilee Convention held here in our own Buffalo. State Teacher's College played host to students and teachers from all over the United States.

Organized originally as two separate organizations, the International Kindergarten Union and the National Council for Primary Education, the A. C. E. now represents a merger of the two. Aiming constantly to promote better educational opportunities for young children, A. C. E. members build an active program each year of book sales, panel discussions, book reviews and nursery school Christmas parties.

Paramount among discussion problems at both the State and National Conventions this year was "Current Conflicts and How They Affect the Elementary School Child."

"I'll bid 50 cents." "I'll raise it to 75."

"What's this? Why this gorgeous water color is worth at least a dollar."

Students and Faculty members of every department peacefully squabbled while Art Ed Club offered choice bits of art work for sale. Since members of S. T. C. seem to like a little local color about their homes, Art Ed Club finds this annual auction one of the most looked-forward-to events of the year.

Freshman men appeared to be a little neglected. So, being conscientious art students, Art Ed members set up a costume bar exclusively for them. With wit and wisdom they administered advice on what was good to wear when.

In lil' ol' New York this spring, they attended the Eastern Art Convention as a Junior member of the association.

Known on campus for being unique and, on occasion, even eccentric, Art Kraft Klub boasts a membership of some of the most creative State students. Since the A. K. K.-ers believe in quality rather than quantity, membership, although drawn from all departments of the college, is limited in number. This year the applicants had to submit letters which were judged on the basis of originality and interest as well as on content.

Formerly known as "Stunt Nite," A. K. K.'s brain child, beloved by all the college, this year became "State Night." No longer were scripts required to be original, as they had been in past years. Result was that the five skits presented, not only abounded in famous wit and witticisms, but also were filled with melodies straight from the hit parade. As has been customary, the proceeds from State Night were put into a scholarship which is each year awarded a worthy Art Frosh.

He who said "too many cooks spoil the broth" apparently didn't know our Home Economics Club. We absolutely, positively need that many cooks, because we've got that much broth cooking. The main broth is for national defense. The girls have all been sewing for the Red Cross, especially aiding in the maintenance of the Red Cross sewing center in the main building.

And then they took a little time off to savor the broth of enjoyment. First they planned a party for the Home Economics Freshmen; then they had two parties with the Industrial Arts Club. Besides all these festivities, they had a talk by Miss Todd of the Family Service Society, a candy demonstration by a club member, Ellen Hirseman, a District Convention for high school teachers and students, panel discussions, and an old-fashioned picnic in the spring.

'Tis said, 'In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.' And, so, the Dramatic Club turned to the production of the Great Love Story ROMEO AND JULIET this spring, under the inspired direction of Miss Goossen.

Don Runyan and Vern Heck, in the title roles, by their superb performance, inspired seventy per cent (the feminine population) of the College wistfully to inquire, "Romeo, Romeo, wherefore is my Romeo?"

Presentation of the YORK NATIVITY by the club was the successful climax to the Christmas festivities. The breath-taking appearance of the angels in all their ethereal power and glory lifted an audience, wearied and depressed by the nearness of war, to a moment of fine inspiration.

Composed of the Catholic students of the campus, the Newman Club is one of the largest organizations at State. It is a national organization founded with a threefold purpose: spiritual, intellectual and social. The spiritual side is well fulfilled by the monthly Communion breakfasts, and the retreat held jointly with U. B. each spring. In reverent memory of a deceased member, Charles Reedy, club members attended Mass and Communion in a body.

Spirited discussion periods held at each meeting, monthly speakers, and the weekly newspaper "The Newmanite" serve the intellectual taste of the members.

Going all out for defense of health, N. R. A. members held a novel "Fruit Pond" this spring, encouraging passing students to throw out a line and pull in a vitamin. Prize catch of the season was an eight-inch banana.

A wide-awake group, the non-resident girls see as much of Buffalo as the local girls do. One Saturday they toured a local broadcasting studio, watching a program on the air, and investigating the behind-the-scenes technique of radio. On warm week-ends they went hiking, to discover what they could about the countryside of their adopted city.

N. R. A. members have held several meetings this past year with the Out-of-Towners Club from U. B.

The keynote of the Psychology Club's work this year has been direct experience.

Trips were planned to a variety of places of interest to the members. Students cooperated to the utmost to make these trips successful—they even went so far as to rise at 8 A. M. on a Sunday morning to sit at a session of the sunrise court. Tours through the International Institute, the School for the Deaf, and the State Hospital were other events in the program. Climax of an active year was the annual joint meeting with the Psychology Clubs of Fredonia and Geneseo State Teachers Colleges.

Hypnotism, a fascinating subject to the layman, was doubly interesting to the club members, when they took part in a demonstration of it. A highly current discussion of the psychology of war was a feature of the year.

"Swing your partner!" proved a novel theme for interpreting the aim of the Rural Club to bind more closely rural communities with the college. This past year the club held a Square Dance in which the members and their friends mingled with rural folk who were invited from outlying districts of Buffalo. Other social activities entered into by the Rural Club members were the Open House Tea and the May Banquet, held to culminate the year's work.

Rural Club was formed to provide such social occasions as well as opportunities to develop educational interests and student leadership. The upkeep of the indispensable aid to the practice teacher—the Bureau of Instructional Materials—was again undertaken as a project by the club.

"Doughnuts, doughnuts, who'll buy my doughnuts," cried the barker at the Y. W. C. A. traveling carnival this year. Visitors to the fair of '42 also had an opportunity to pitch pennies in floating dishes, drink root beer in a dimly lighted "beer garden," and have their pictures sketched by a traveling artist . . . all for a good cause, too, as proceeds went to a fund to aid refugee children.

The Y offered another social service in the opportunity it afforded for religious meditation during Lent. Held in the auditorium during lunch hours, the simple devotions were mainly concerned with the place of religion in the turmoil of the world today.

Again this year, Y. W. C. A. conducted a drive for baskets at Thanksgiving time. As its contribution to the national war effort, Y was sponsor of a group-knitting project.

Each year, undergraduates are made aware of the loyalty of former graduates through the varied activities of the Alumni Association. This group was organized as a medium through which all Alumni may coordinate their interest in Alma Mater, and make that interest function. Although its program is of particular interest and value to the Seniors, the Association again this year was sponsor for an assembly program for the whole college.

"Won't I sit down? Well, no, thank you. You see, yesterday we had a meeting of the Riding Club, and well . . . you know."

Yes, this is an S. T. C. belle talking, for early this fall Athletic Council was sponsor of a club for enthusiastic equestrians. The success was overwhelming. Even city dwellers, so it seems, really like stables and hay.

In tune with the theme of the year, "More College Spirit," Council marshalled the student body en masse onto buses and took a trip to Niagara to watch our basketball team tussle with those nearby opponents. After home games, Council members wound up the Victrola and invited all to shake a cramped leg. At the "Sweater Dance," any other form of dress was frowned upon, as all of us played Joe and Julie College to a "T."

One day, the girls' Council were hostess to a group of girls from the U. B., when they held the annual Play Day in the gym.

Their director, Miss Ruth Speir, will always remain an inseparable part of this memory.

In the fall the club went to Amherst Central High School and presented a program for the Teachers' Convention. They also had an important part in the Christmas play. Early in the Spring the girls took part in the inspiring Spring concert.

This love for group singing and enjoyment in participation in music activities led the way to many other enjoyable events. Frequently the girls got together at an informal party to let down their hair and high C's.

Maybe they do call us green frosh, but, whatever our hue, we do like to sing. Just 'cause we don't rate the Senior Glee Club, doesn't mean that we don't have a wonderful little choir all of our own. Every week we get together for our own song fest.

When Merry Christmas time came around, we were right in there to give power and beauty to our "Noels" and to whisper "Silent Night" while Mary and Joseph trudged on their weary journey. We sang in Assembly, too. But our big triumph was the night of the Spring Concert when we wore our best formals and sang our best super-romantic songs.

We like our own glee club because it is two things which we very much enjoyed being during the last year—truly freshmen and truly feminine.

You really have to enjoy singing to come to school at eight-thirty three mornings a week to rehearse, especially in the midst of a Buffalo blizzard. To this there can be only one conclusion—members of the Men's Glee Club take their singing seriously.

Conclusion number two: it is effective, as evidenced by the men's participation in the assembly programs. For when the manly voices boom out from the platform, that famous seventy percent of State's population begin to sigh, en masse.

The Men's Glee Club took an active part in the Christmas play and again in the Spring Concert, as well as singing in concerts outside of school.

There are fifty hardy members in our school orchestra who devote themselves Tuesday and Friday to cheering our morning blues and bolstering our morale as we make our way to our assembly seats. Subtly, too, they add to the enlargement and intensification of our musical appreciation.

The orchestra, under the direction of Miss Edna Hurd, again played an important part in the Spring Concert. This performance, the highlight of the year, was the climax to a great deal of conscientious preparation.

This season the team's record reached the .500 mark with five wins and five losses. Coach Coyer and the boys have proved that they are more than a match for any team in their own league, and will put up a great fight with any other team.

The first game was played at Syracuse. Four bus loads of students, cheer leaders, and faculty arrived in time to see the second half of the game. Their fast breaks and unusual playing built up a big score for our opponents, but this was our first game and the boys were warming up.

St. Bonaventure played fast and hard to achieve State's defeat, but we turned the tables in the next game. Having been defeated by Fredonia for two consecutive years, the Orange and Black retrenched, with "Murph" as high scorer and the best floor game by Swanson.

The unwieldy score of the West Texas game does not tell the whole story, for anyone who saw the State quintet in action against "the tallest team in the world" can have nothing but praise for our boys. Kingston and Vastola were outstanding, and the entire team rated enthusiastic mention by a local sports reporter.

Grove City visited us next. An exciting game ended with State just two points ahead of her opponents.

Oswego was the next team to go down in our path. Ricky Shanks, a new sensation, supplied the floor work and lightning passes State needed, while Jake Shaeffer and Lou Vastola accounted for most of the points.

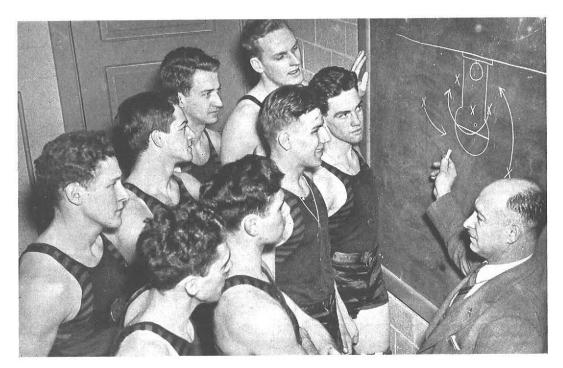

Niagara!! State went into the lead at the very beginning, but began to feel the absence of Swanson. Despite efforts by the whole team, Niagara won a decisive victory.

Balm for our wounds was furnished by an equally decisive defeat of Geneseo. Win Swanson was back to garner 22 points, and Jake Shaeffer made 17. All thirteen saw action in the game, and Murphy and Cohen showed us that they deserved their posts as co-captains.

Our men have made a fine showing in every game, and Swanson and Vastola ended the season as second and third highest scorers in the district, respectively. State can, did, and will win games!

A "shock troop" to scrimmage against the Varsity, our Junior Varsity has proved to be a valuable adjunct to the Varsity team. Many of the main team players have "worked up" from the "J. V." squad.

One basket was the deciding factor in the first game, against Nichols. Although we lost this game, good passwork was displayed by Al Abgott, Otto Maroone, and Charlie Foster.

The Park School was no match for the developing "J.V.'s", and this winning streak was continued against the Amherst Ramblers.

Then came Niagara again. After a fast-stepping game, the team suffered a decisive defeat at the hands of the Niagara Junior Varsity.

The team rallied, however, to close the season triumphantly by routing Millard Fillmore College, 50 to 16. There was no lid on the basket for our team that night.

Cross-country, our only undefeated team, is one of which we are justly proud. Through a combination of fine cooperation, hard work, and excellent material, this team, led by Captain Paul Bacon, came through with seven straight victories. Three of these were won with perfect scores.

Don Munson, State's Mercury, set the pace, followed closely by Paul Bacon, Bart Ross, Bev Ross, Norm Meyer, Herb Kaiser, Johnny Michaels, and Fred Michels. Outstanding meets were those held with Slippery Rock and the two with Niagara. State ran away with perfect scores, a most unusual and spectacular accomplishment. The Canadian champions from the University of Toronto lost to State, as did the teams of Colgate and Alfred.

This team has won our respect. We expect another perfect record from them next season, for, with the exception of Paul Bacon, the team will be intact.

Handicapped by the loss of several veterans of last year, and the practice-teaching absence of several of the team, the State mermen finished the year with two victories out of five contests.

Special laurels go to Captain and Coach William Kneer. During his four years here, he has given much of his time to the swimming team. "Willie" is a consistent point-getter in free-style and back stroke events. He was ably assisted by Jim Cherkauer, sophomore, who swims a fast 50 yards free style.

Although the team will suffer next year from the loss of Grant Wettlaufer, Dick Temlitz, Herb Hilton, and Kenny Phillips, there is promise in the performances of Jim Cherkauer and freshmen Jack Schloerf, Johnny Michaels, and John Wolanyk.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

This year, a new system was inaugurated in girls' basketball. With the purpose of giving more teams more chances to play, the final winners were decided on a percentage basis. This left nine teams in competition right up to the end.

For the second consecutive year the now Home Economics Juniors won top honors, while second place went to the Home Ec Seniors. The winning team was composed of Margery Bennett, Natalie Williams, Nancy Lee Smith, Marian Militello, Babe Woeppel, Helen Agle, Marge Huetter, Mary T. O'Hern, Claire Crocker, Marian Mollnow, and Flo Coghill.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

The excitement of the first days of swimming in September is reverberated across the campus . . . the Co-op is invaded for swim tickets; shouts ring across the Campus, "How's the water?", followed by the inevitable, "Wet and Wonderful!"

Swimming instructions are required for Freshmen and Sophomores. Classes are divided according to ability—beginners' class, advanced class, and a Red Cross Life-Saving course for experienced swimmers. Achievement tests are given at the end of the beginners' and advanced swim classes, while an outside examiner tests the Red Cross group.

Water-lilies from the mermaids of S.T.C. go to Miss Virginia Frost for her enthusiasm and interest in student swimming activities.

BADMINTON

The increasing popularity of badminton at State was evidenced by the fact that about fifty couples turned out for the women's doubles, and fourteen couples for the mixed doubles. Jean Reeves and Marjoric Frisbee were the final winners, defeating Margaret Merton and Dorothy Locke, the runners-up. Marjoric Frisbee and Everett Stevenson won the mixed doubles tournament.

TENNIS

Every class participated in this year's tennis tournament. The final winners were Jean Bartlett and Ruth Rosen; Helen Slazyk was runner-up.

CLASSES

This is the story of maturing youth. Note, on these pages, how the tenor changes from Freshmen to Seniors, how the persons and their works grow in stature and in worth.

We present the CLASSES—our proof of progress.

At Freshman Camp, We: (1) Roasted Hot Dogs in the Middle of the Night; (2) Learned Our First College Cheers; (3) Listened to Upperclassmen "Tune Up"; (4) Played Ping-Pong in Odd Moments.

FRESHMEN

Our first year began, as all freshman years must begin, with the outwardly dreaded, but secretly enjoyed "Haze Week". At the request of our sophomore "friends", we polished shoes, we pushed peanuts around the floor of the Student Center, and read aloud pages from dry text books to lazy Sophs. So much attention was showered on us, that we began to feel at home, and we learned to recognize almost all of the sophomores on sight. Many proposals were executed with interesting variations, but, alas, nothing ever came of them. So we started our year, now a little less green than before.

Then, in accordance with the motto "Originality at All Costs", we elected four men for our class officers. Our experiment was watched with interest by the rest of the College, but our choices proved to be as capable as they were unique.

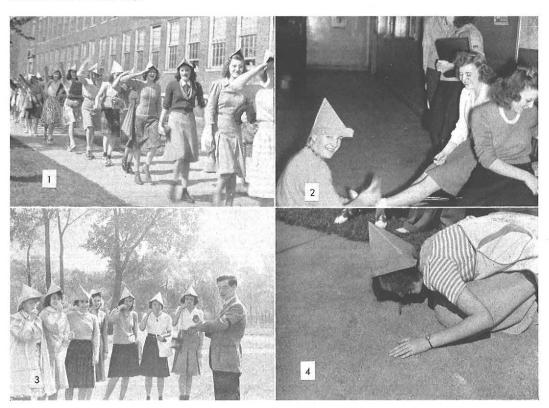

Jack Schloerb filled the post of Chief Executive, and did a capable job of integrating our new class, especially considering our size! Oh, yes, we're the largest class at State in several years.

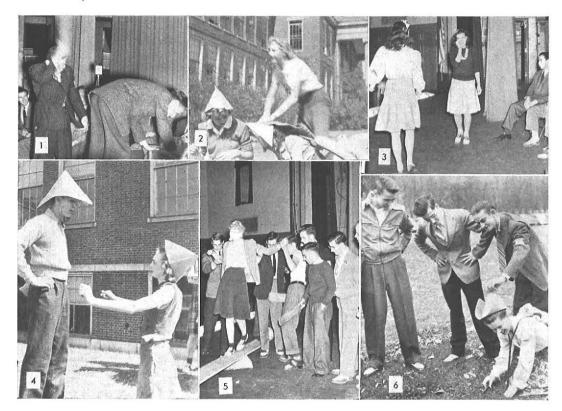

Bill Baker, from General College, the super-active importation from Kenmore, was chosen as right-hand man in the vice-president's office, and proved that we know our officers. Bill also distinguished himself on the Record Staff, becoming a key man in the newspaper world.

Art Dembowski, of the tweeds and bow tie, because of his proficiency in shorthand, was elected secretary to handle our numerous affairs. Artie, too, was no exception to the high caliber of our officers.

Charles Smith was chosen to handle the monetary affairs of the Class of '45.

Carlton Rinck surprised no one by winning the Handbook contest which Dr. Rockwell announced in the fall. It was a little astonishing, though, to learn later that he had found two mistakes made by the author when he set out to solve all the problems in his math book one rainy afternoon.

The Klein sisters joined our Class's Hall of Fame. Both Betty from Home Ec and Janet, who is an Art student, made headlines in the local papers by winning the ice-skating matches for the city championships.

We sent several of our "stage struck" members into the Dramatic Club, and they did well, as we knew they would. Ginny Williams was a beautiful Gabriel in the Christmas play, and Dorothy Fedigan deserves special mention for her exotic dance in Herod's court. Bill Marsh was also noteworthy for his portrayal of Joseph.

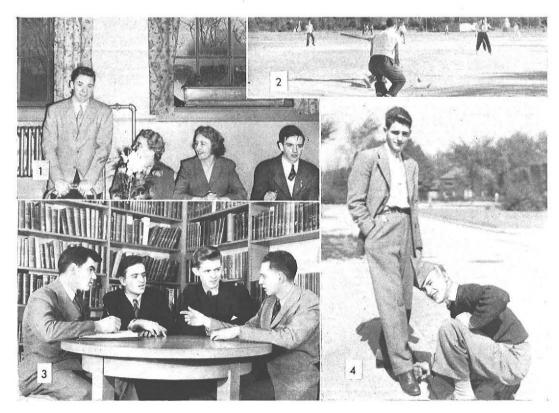

In the Variety Assembly Show, hidden talent came to the surface when that undiscovered swing band "gave forth." When Dave Salustri and "Available Jones" played, the audience could barely refrain from dancing in the sizzling aisles.

Gene Hilton, blond South Buffalo representative, became Business Manager of the Record, and proved himself a business man of no mean acumen.

Athletically, our class was represented on the basketball courts by Alan Schaefer, Dave Salustri, Gordon Hollenbeck, Richard Shanks, and Hubert Swift.

And so the year ended, with the Class of '45 well represented in every field of endeavor at State. We stand ready next year to initiate the novices into the traditions we have learned in our year here.

SOPHOMORES

We sophs "got over" being freshmen in a hurry. Over a summer, we changed from meek, gullible frosh to confident, "hard-boiled" upperclassmen.

Just two weeks after embarking on this new campus position, we marshalled the bewildered rookie forces and created the "army of the green." After a rigorous three-day training schedule under our guidance, freshmen were "discharged," slightly less green, and considerably wiser for the experience. Following the dance which ended hazing week, we burned in effigy the "verdant frosh," setting up a precedent we hope classes to come will follow.

We had hardly time to put our chevrons away in moth balls before we were in the midst of Interclass Sing rehearsals, Jeanne Jettas and Betty Germony wrote us a smooth waltz song, and Helen Desmond rounded our rough basses, sopranos, and miscellaneous voices into a fine chorus. Highlight of our unified effort was the colored screen silhouette of Don Runyan and Helen McMasters. We had exuberant Lois Tukey for a chairman, and made a splendid effort. Unhappily, the Juniors had a year of experience we lacked.

No sooner had Interclass Sing ceased to echo through the halls, when the College became aware of a super cross-country team, and, in particular, of fast-stepping sophomore Don Munson. During the season, Don broke more records than a clumsy music salesman.

Christmas time rolled around shortly, and the Holly-Hanging Committee had no doubts in awarding the sophomores first prize for the decoration of the Social Centers. That same night, Don Runyan stirred the Christmas play audience with his masterful portrayal of King Herod.

We had our troubles, too. First, our Soph-Frosh Hop was delayed. A week later, the cafeteria was serving meat loaf because we called off a supper party but forgot to cancel the supper! Soon the time came when we settled down to learn all the first semester's work as a pre-exam ritual. After that mid-year ordeal, it was fun to relax at the "Exam-Jam," Al Abgott's version of the belated Soph-Frosh Hop.

At last, too, we had our supper-dance party, and Frank Nutis outdid himself in arranging an unforgettable program of entertainment. Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of the locker-room quartet, the latest thing this side of Coach Coyer's joke book. The quartet explained that this was their second public rehearsal. They have yet to give a performance.

Following a successful season last year, Jim Cherkauer, Winnie Swanson, Lou Vastola, and Bob Kingston helped make this an outstanding year in athletics at State.

Scholastically, athletically, and socially significant now, we have become a well-rounded group. In classrooms, in the pool, on the court, in book drives and blood-bank drives, at the "Y" Carnival, at State Night, and in all the campus functions of the year, we took an active part. Our class officers, talented in promoting unity, have led us to new heights in "class spirit."

JUNIORS

Memories . . . memories . . . that's what we sing, and that's what we have loads of! Being a modest group, we don't like to brag, but did you ever hear such a melodious song as our Interclass Sing original MEMORIES? Chuck Reedy's lilting melody, Jean Reeves' haunting words, and the perfected harmony of our choir all helped convince the judges that, for the second year running, CLASS OF 1943 would be spelled out on the coveted orange and black banner.

Droves of green little freshmen arrived this fall, and we stepped forth, capable and experienced, to imbue them with advice and wisdom such as we have acquired in our years here. For the first semester, Amy Smith and her squad of Counsellors sought to help the novices plan their time to allow enough study. Result: the Frosh received good grades and improved their dancing at the same time. Notable by-product: Juniors spent less time in the Student Center sipping cokes. Peg Russell took over the chairmanship for the second semester, when we helped the "freshies" write correct invitations, with the result that they entertained us!

At Christmas time, we held our glamorous Cinderella Ball. Co-chairmen Eileen Healy and Chuck Reedy made very sure that the lights were soft and the music sweet. There was even a glass slipper for our midnight Cinderella, Peg Brown. "Baby" Peg was attended by four of our class lovelies, sweet Isabel Lee, stately Mary T. O'Hern, vivacious Jean Daly, and lovable Helen Kelley. After a deep bow to our treasurer, Ollie Parenti, we whispered the glad news—it was a financial success as well!

But all was not happiness for us this year. Just the day after Christmas, one of our most versatile and loved classmates, Charles Reedy, passed away. Filled with a love of life as he was, Chuck spent an active fall managing our record-smashing track team, acting as secretary of his fraternity, writing our song, and managing our prom. We can't say much more. We miss his talent, his spirit, more than it is easy to say.

The war touched us this year, as it did everybody. Fritz Wandell came back to State one day, wearing the uniform of a United States Marine. Dr. Peterson, our class advisor, was called to Washington. Al Clarke is gone; our president, Ed. Recke left to take up new duties in industry. Many of the men who stayed on campus worked in one of Buffalo's defense plants, doing their part for the national war effort, and yet keeping up their studies.

Erma Sill and Jean Reeves were co-editors of the Record, something new in State's literary history. Justly proud of their news sheet, they proved to us and to science that "two heads are better than one."

Marge Bennett, our scholar extraordinary, was elected president for the year of the Statewide Association of College Home Economics Clubs.

"Tip" Swier added to his basketball fame and served with honor as vice-president of Student Council.

In the spring, Dick Carnival was elected to fill the vacant president's chair. This year's State Night, the last for some years to come, did not catch us unprepared. The Art section gave renditions of a group of war songs, while the Industrial Arts men and Home Ec girls collaborated in a strictly sentimental musical.

On May fifteenth, we walked up the last step and became seniors, a class reduced somewhat in numbers, but a class with the same spirit that was ours in our first year at State. We have now three years of Memories, and one more year . . . of hope.

(1) The Pause That Refreshes; (2) Helen Gildersleeve; (3) Executive Problem; (4) Two Is Company . . . ; (5) Coronation Company.

SENIORS

We Seniors now have our memories, memories now mature, of the four happiest, fullest years of our lives . . .

In rapid review, we see our first year as one of orientation. Coming from high schools where most of us had been supreme, we found ourselves grist in a much larger mill. Soon, however, we began to emerge, and Bill Callan, Roland Murphy, Irving Cohen, and Peter Lucas were welcome additions to the "muscle factory." Charlie Hyde became known as the man who "would rather be treasurer than president", and Grant Wettlauffer, of diving fame, became our able class president.

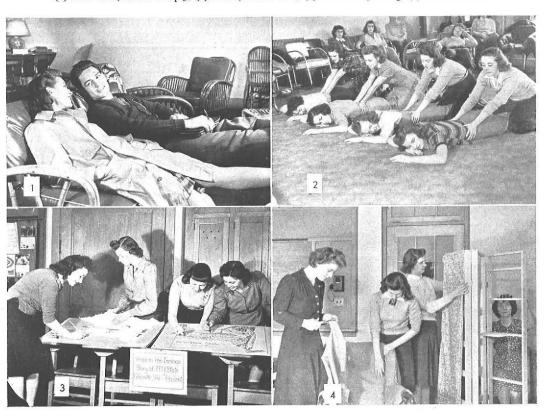

When we returned the next fall as sophomores, we were eager and ready to take up new responsibilities. The subsequent success of the Class of '43, we think, is due, in no small way, to our friendly but firm guidance during old-fashioned "Hell Week." Under the leadership of Mary Lutz, we carried out ambitious plans successfully. Carol Frazee earned a reputation for knowing everyone's name—a second Jim Farley. Euphra Lupkiewicz and Earl Obermeyer started to sing their way on the long road to fame, and the Rudolph sisters, Barbie and Juanita, became vital members of the Publications staffs, the Dramatic Club, and the Psychology Club.

Another year, and back to higher accomplishments. Our Thespians—Sally Barnes, Marion Pierce, Vern Heck, Ralph Smith, and Earl Obermeyer were applauded in Arms and the Man. Ruby Fitch, our "perfect lady," became the "perfect Snow Queen" at the Junior Prom. The Junior Class team, led by Doris Hick and Marjorie Pierce, emerged triumphant in the interclass basketball tournament. Dick Temlitz and Billy Kneer upheld our honors in the pool, while Gerry Clarke and Boyd Campbell showed us that the pen is mightier than the sword by giving their all to the Elms and the Record. Kenny Phillips, our genial Santa Claus, became 42's favorite M.C. Ruthie Miller started her career as a "front page girl," with her ever-enjoyable Record column.

Then came Moving-Up Day, and at last we were Seniors. We all rallied around our new president, Ed Nelson, and cheered our basketball co-captains, Murph and Cohen, who had a great deal to do, respectively, with Student Council and Athletic Council.

(1) Doris Hick, Roland Murphy; (2) Inhale, Exhale . . . ; (3) We Learn by Doing; (4) Household Arts.

(1) Looking Forward; (2) We Must Conserve Materials; (3) At the Senior Ball Committee Meeting; (4) Ed Nelson, Norma Munger and Affairs of State; (5) Our College Home; (6) Dean's Tea; (7) Home Ec-er's at Work; (8) Practicing; (9) Finishing Touches.

Depleted in numbers, we lustily sang our best, but not the best in Interclass Sing. We attended Senior Seminars under the direction and encouragement of Doris Dutcher. We did our best for Aggie Bard, chairman of the Senior assembly, and all rejoiced with Ruth Owen, first among us to sign a teaching contract.

1942, and the war was a reality! Pleasures and parties took the background then; united war effort took the limelight. Some of our numbers postponed the quest for knowledge for the quest of VICTORY. We at home joined knitting clubs, first aid classes, and home guard units, and contributed to the Blood Bank and "Books for Soldiers" drive. Army, Navy, Marine, and Air Corps uniforms glittered triumphantly among the tails and colored gowns at our Senior Ball, and one had the impression that here was American youth, carrying on what it had always done, confident of victory.

Yes, we've had our memories . . . memories which we shall treasure always, memories which we will take with us in our own schoolrooms, in the factory, and on the battlefield.

SENIORALBUM

These are the ones who are leaving. Their years have been full and happy, and now they are going to serve on many fronts.

We present the SENIORS—they have learned many lessons. They will learn many more.
