Jeffery Jones

Reflections:

No matter what was going in Jeff's life, he always had a boyish grin on his face. If we could hear Jeff one more time we would say:

Mom, thank you for not giving up on me.

Dad, thank you for being a dad, so many fathers would have turned their backs.

Ester, thank you for sharing your motherly love with me inspite of ...

Bryant, I know I worked your nerves. Thanks for being there for me.

Mae, you may soon dmwean but you are just as sweet as honey, thank you for being who you are.

Sam, other than my father, I thank you for being the man you are.

Ma (Garrett), my grandmother , I know I put you through a lot, especially with granddad being so sick but you never ignored the telephone or doorbells. I thank you for that.

And to everybody else, thank you for your love and support and showing me what family and friends are all about.

Love you all Jeff

Don't grieve for me, for now I'm free .
God wanted me now, He set me free....
I left this world only to journey to a new world,
There I will be joined by my late brother Dickie,
my grandparents: Big Daddy and Big Mommie, cousins and friends.

Obituary

Jeffery Jones was born to Elmer Jones and Sarah Scott on November 22, 1957 in Buffalo, New York.

Although he lived in Buffalo all his life, he had the opportunity to travel to other states such as Ohio, Florida, and Texas.

Jeff was what we affectionally called a momma's boy, Jeff truly loved his mother. He once told her he would not leave her house until he was forty. Well, he tried very hard to stay and of course you know the old saying most mothers' give: "I don't know where you are going, but you have to leave here".

Jeff had no particular order on how he lived his life, he just lived.

Jeff knew the importance of accepting Christ and believing in Him. Jeff went to church at the Hopewell Baptist Church under the late Pastor John F. D. Lyles. He was baptized by Pastor Dennis Lee, Jr. in 1996.

Four years later Jeffery was called home by God and departed this life on April 8, 2000 at his home.

He leaves to cherish his memories, a loving and devoted mother: Sarah (Bryant), father: Elmer (Ester); four brothers: Eugene (Lori) of Nevada, Curtis of New Mexico, Kevin of Buffalo, New York, Mark of Detroit, Michigan; two sisters: Angela and Daphne, both of Buffalo, New York; one son: Jeffery Jones, Jr.; two grandmothers: Georgia (Ernest), Bea; one great-aunt: Minnie (levy); two aunts: Mae and Lavern; two uncles: Sam and Henry and a host of other relatives and friends.
