"I've Taken The Train Home"

*I may have wandered far away,
throughout the land I've roamed,
but God told me the other day,
to take the train on home.*

*I jumped on board, without a doubt,
He said He wouldn't leave me alone;
I paid my fare, it was my last,
to take the train on home.*

*God is too wise to make a mistake,
I know the Lord can't do wrong,
He told me to just get on board,
and take the train on home,*

*I came to my journey's end,
and God has called me on;
do not grieve for me, loved ones,
I've just taken the train on home.*

An Appreciation

Words cannot convey our sincere gratitude and appreciation for all of the expressions of kindness and sympathy shown to us during our hours of bereavement. Your thoughts and prayers will serve to brighten our days ahead. Thank you, and may God bless all of you.

Obituary

Laura Fisher was born to the late Jessie Sligh and the late Anna Sligh on September 5, 1907 in Newberry, South Carolina.

She entered into her eternal rest on Friday, June 16, 2000 in Buffalo General Hospital at 12:25 A.M.

Laura worked for Kaufman Bakery for many years and she was a long resident of the Schwab Terrace residential community located at Best and Fillmore Streets, Buffalo, New York.

She was one of the oldest devoted members of Lincoln Memorial United Methodist Church, 641 Masten Street, Buffalo, New York, where she worked out her soul salvation on many committees in the church.

She was kind and generous, and she would give the "shirt off her back" to the needy.

She precedes in death her three children, the late Laura Evelyn Smith, the late Henry Robinson, and the late Jessie Robinson: nine grandchildren, Tiarrie, Tiffany, Johnny, Curtis, Patricia, Adrienne, Angela, Markita and Darren; a daughter-in law, Jeanette Robinson; and a host of friends.

*Some days are made for weeping,
but God and heaven remain,
and after nights of darkness,
the sun will shine again.*

A.D

To Shine Be the glory
